Despite inconvenience of stalled cars, piled-up driveways, snow-laden sidewalks, and slip-and-slide conditions for drivers and pedestrians, Victoria area resi-

stopped and silent beauty seized landscape. Sculptors were out in force. Fantasies ranged from wicked old witch, by John Brett, 14, to apple-cheeked girl in bonnet by Wendy Bunder, 12, admired at right by Mrs. S. Berterund and daughter Toni. (Photos by Bill Halkett, Robin Clarke.)

City on Guard For New Snow

Victorians were warned today by weatherman William Mackie to be on their guard for a "sneak punch."

His warning came as conditions in the city and district returned to near normal as residents and public works crews dug themselves out from under the worst snowfall of the winter — nine inches Saturday and early Sunday.

ALASKA IS KEY

"Pressures in the gulf are neither rising nor falling," he said. "There is no sign of anything happening there now, but past experience has taught us to be highly suspicious of this kind of situation and on our guard. If a storm should develop it would hit here very quickly with more snow."

He said there would be flurries today, and a light snow actually fell at noon, but he said it was "insignificant."

His forecast calls for continuing cold weather, with variable cloudiness tonight and mixed cloud and sunshine Tuesday.

Temperatures will range between 25 degrees tonight and 35 degrees Tuesday.

B.C. Electric buses reported service on its many routes being mainly on time, with isolated delays. Vancouver Island Coach Lines runs were reported as anything from "on time" to 20 minutes late.

10% Increase In Taxi Fares Due in February

A 10 per cent increase in taxi fares in Greater Victoria was approved today by city council finance committee.

The boost will go into effect in February if council approves the move on Thursday.

WEATHERMAN WRONG —BY ONE DEGREE

Critical temperatures were the villains that caused snow Saturday instead of the mixed snow and rain, and subsequently rain, predicted by weatherman William Mackie.

The snow confined itself to the Greater Victoria area, giving only two or three inches at Seattle, Nanaimo and Comox, and none at Vancouver.

"The temperature Saturday was 35 degrees," Mr. Mackie said. "That is about as high as it can be and still give precipitation as snow."

"Conditions indicated the temperatures would rise the one degree necessary to tip the scales, but instead they stayed right there," he said.

"It was one of those cases where it took only one degree to make a liar of the weatherman," he said ruefully.

Victoria's location makes forecasting extremely difficult. Being on the coast, where cold mainland air and moist Pacific air meet, it constantly finds itself in the thick of the fight, which can move only 10 miles either way to give an altogether different weather picture.

'RARELY HAS EARTH KNOWN SUCH PERIL'

Stern Warning Delivered By Eisenhower at Inaugural

Invites Friendship Of Russ Citizens

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, in a solemnly-worded inaugural address, today warned that "rarely has this earth known such peril."

He dedicated his second four-year term to countering that danger with strength at home and help for all nations struggling to be free.

Eisenhower expressed friendship for the people—but not the government—of Russia.

Massed thousands, on the steps of the capitol and standing on the wet grounds in front, listened in hushed silence.

His address followed the public ceremony in which he took the oath of office for a second time.

Sunday morning, on the constitutional date for his inauguration, private rites were held in the White House for Eisenhower and vice-president Nixon.

His words were broadcast and telecast to millions. The Voice of America planned broadcasts in many foreign languages.

The president, Nixon, their wives and congressional leaders, drew thunderous cheers as they drove from the White House up the hill to the Capitol.

Chief Justice Earl Warren administered the oath to Eisenhower after Senator William Knowland (Rep.-Calif.) had sworn in Nixon.

ness of men who love freedom to pledge their lives to that love."

He cited events in Hungary. "Budapest is no longer merely the name of a city; it is a new and shining symbol of man's yearning to be free."

Even the Russian people were included in Eisenhower's all-embracing statements.

"We honor, no less in this divided world than in a less tormented time, the people of Russia," he said.

"We do not dread, rather do we welcome, their progress in education and industry."

"For as such things may come to pass, the more certain will be the coming of the day when our peoples may freely meet in friendship."

At 66, Eisenhower is the second-oldest president to take the oath. In 1960, he would be the oldest man ever to occupy the White House.

He also said he had been denied permission to see Hanna during the weekend.

Meanwhile, Hanna was reported on his way back to Port Alberni and the ship which brought him to this country.

"The star chamber setup is further complicated," said Mr. Taylor, "by the fact that the employer of the immigration officers had already made public in the House of Commons his decision before the case had even come before the tribunal."

Mr. Taylor said he had no time to decide grounds for appeal nor time to "prepare a brief."

"In my opinion, the appeal from one immigration officer to three officers all in the same

Four-Year Old Raped, Killed

Police Seek Pimp-Faced Youth For Brutal Slaying in Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—Police today began checking classrooms and schoolyards in the metropolitan Toronto area, seeking a pimply-faced boy who may be the slayer of four-year-old Carole Voyce.

The little girl's body, raped, mutilated and beaten, was found Saturday night under a viaduct in east-central Toronto.

A doctor who examined the body said it was the most brutal slaying he had seen in 20 years.

Police said the only lead they had was the report of Carole's four-year-old playmate who told them she left the street in front of her home with a youth riding a red and green bicycle.

They said she was driven to the viaduct, on Bloor Street just west of Broadview Avenue, raped and killed.

They had uncovered no new information by late this morning.

Carole died, an autopsy showed, at about 4 p.m. Saturday. The immediate cause of death was a massive hemorrhage brought on when her liver was ruptured, probably by someone who knelt on her three-foot, 30-pound body.

She had been struck over the head with a blunt instrument and mutilated with an eight-inch twig.

Dr. Smirle Lawson, supervising coroner for Ontario, said: "Of all the murders I've seen in 20 years, this is certainly the most brutal."

A $5,000 reward was posted for the slayer's capture and conviction and all metropolitan police had their weekend leaves cancelled.

After listening to the story told by her four-year-old playmate, police said the killing might be linked with that of nine-year-old Gary Morris.

Gary's body was found suffocated at east-end Cherry Beach last summer. His liver had been ruptured. He too was last seen being driven away on the handle-bars of a boy's bicycle.

Judge L. A. Hanna re-set bail at $2,500. Ferguson will remain in the custody of his parents.

Alberni Youth Changes Form Of Hearing

PORT ALBERNI (CP)—David Windsor Ferguson charged with offering an indignity to a dead human body, has elected trial by judge alone when he appears in Alberni County Court Feb. 4.

Ferguson, one of four charged in connection with the desecration of a grave in Greenwood Cemetery last September, had previously elected trial by judge and jury and was expected to appear at the spring sittings.

Judge L. A. Hanna re-set bail at $2,500. Ferguson will remain in the custody of his parents.

He also said he had been denied permission to see Hanna during the weekend.

Meanwhile, Hanna was reported on his way back to Port Alberni and the ship which brought him to this country.

"The star chamber setup is further complicated," said Mr. Taylor, "by the fact that the employer of the immigration officers had already made public in the House of Commons his decision before the case had even come before the tribunal."

Mr. Taylor said he had no time to decide grounds for appeal nor time to "prepare a brief."

"In my opinion, the appeal from one immigration officer to three officers all in the same office, is contrary to natural justice.

"The refusal to grant an adjournment because Hanna's ship is due to leave is comparable to an accused in a murder trial asking for an adjournment, only to be told by the judge that he could not grant it because the hangman was ready to proceed."

The Norwegian freighter Gudveig in which Hanna came to Canada is scheduled to leave Port Alberni on Vancouver Island sometime Tuesday.

OTTAWA (CP)—Opposition Leader Diefenbaker today urged that "humanitarian consideration" be given priority in Christian George Hanna's appeal against an immigration deportation order.

Our Father and our God, Thou art ever mindful of our needs and the needs of Thy children in our world. Quicken our minds that we may perceive what to Thee is plain. And, having perceived the way, strengthen us to pursue the goals Thou wouldst have us attain. We pray in Jesus' name. Amen.

'MY NERVES ARE SHOT'

Sawchuk Tells Why He Quit NHL Bruins

DETROIT (AP)—Terry Sawchuk told a press conference today he quit the Boston Bruins because "my nerves are shot," but he left the door open for a possible return to National Hockey League action within a month.

Sawchuk said he had informed Bruin coach Milt Schmidt that he would consult with the Boston club "in about a month on my future with the Bruins."

Sawchuk said he was under the care of a physician here.

"I had many moments when I wasn't sure I could finish a game," he said.

In December when the disease was first diagnosed, Sawchuk said, a specialist recommended he take at least a month's rest.

"This has been the toughest decision of my life," he added.

"I couldn't sleep. I lost my appetite and my nerves were just shot," he said.

"I took everything into consideration—the Boston organization, my teammates, myself and my family—and decided I was not in condition to continue at this time," Sawchuk said.

Power Hike Brief
On Channel 12

Victoria's most baffling week-end television mystery of the year, entitled "Whatever Happened to Channel 12?" was solved today.

... WEATHER

Main streets of Victoria were sprinkled with rock salt as the snow fell Saturday and as a result the surface now is much the same as water treated with anti-freeze.

He said if the city had still been using sand it would have been impossible to begin work until the snow stopped falling, as later snow covers its non-skid abrasive qualities.

Extra crews are working today cleaning crosswalks, and snow which had been pushed into the centre of the streets will be picked up and carried away as soon as possible.

No streets have been closed by his order for sleigh riding. The engineer said he does not anticipate flooding as the nine inches of snow represents less than one inch of rain.

The use of salt instead of sand, which can clog storm drains, is also a feature which reduces the chance of flooding. City crews worked late Saturday and all day Sunday to have the streets ready for traffic Monday.

ROADS PASSABLE

Highways department crews in the district went to work Saturday afternoon with all available men and equipment, and have worked constantly on shifts. Except for a delay on the Malahat Saturday evening, traffic was kept moving, and all roads today were reported as "passable."

Sunday saw hundreds of youngsters sleighing on available hills, and some skiers were seen.

In some instances cars towed sleighs, and one young woman was seen skating on the hard-packed surface of Blenkinsop Road.

Brilliant sunshine made the clearing of sidewalks a little easier to bear, and thousands had the opportunity of seeing Port Angeles and the Olympic Mountains "close enough to touch." Others noted the beauty of trees, transformed by the snow from gaunt skeletons to studies in Valenciennes lace.

FOG HEAVY

Trouble for motorists, however, struck Sunday night from another direction.

Heavy fog settled over the suburban area late Sunday afternoon, catching many home-bound motorists off guard. Visibility was reduced to 15 feet in some places, and many drivers were completely baffled at intersections.

One car proceeding south on the Trans-Canada Highway ran into a snowbank instead of the turn on to Douglas, and others were left at odd angles in snowbanks at the Fountain Circle.

opened to Channel 12?" was solved today.

Saturday night at 10:30 the popular Bellingham television station boosted its power from 34,000 watts to a whopping 225,000 watts.

Long one of the city's best received stations, citizens feared that the added power would harm reception from Tacoma's Channel 11.

First reports indicated that it didn't, at least to any marked degree.

But something else happened they hadn't bargained for.

Sunday they were dumbfounded to discover that they couldn't pick up 12 more than faintly. It was as though the giant had worn itself out in one frenzied show of strength, then faded to a ghost.

Some local technicians today were inundated with angry cries for help as citizens thought they had lost the channel for all time.

David Miltz, general manager of KVOZ-TV, however, said that Channel 12's fading was of a temporary nature and explained it this way:

In an all-out effort to meet the Saturday night high-power deadline ceremony, engineers and technicians battled icy winds and swirling snows atop Orcas Island's half-mile Mt. Constitution all last week. But the weather was so bad it was possible to rig only a temporary antenna.

Therefore, once the power-boost show was over, the station transmitted from a temporary small antenna to allow workmen to convert the jury-rigged affair into a permanent installation.

CLEAR SOON

Mr. Miltz thought Victorians would be able to receive the channel in its old black-and-white brilliance, by Tuesday noon at the earliest, and by Wednesday or Thursday at the latest.

High winds were still a threat this morning atop Mt. Constitution, he said.

Peculiarly, however, weekend weather wrought other changes in TV viewing.

Channel 13, for instance, received well by no more than about 5 per cent of the city's TV set owners, was reported coming in clearly in most sections of Greater Victoria.

One technician put forth the interesting theory that heavy snows atop the mountain peaks between here and 13's Tacoma-Seattle transmitter site, were responsible. While others thought 13 owed its good reception to the fact that Channel 12 had been reduced temporarily to low power.

CHRISTIAN GEORGE HANNA

5 Women Propose
To Stateless Man

VANCOUVER (CP)—Several girls have offered to marry a stateless and lonely stowaway if that will save him from being deported, his counsel said Sunday night.

John Taylor, one of two lawyers fighting a deportation order issued last Friday against Christian Hanna, 23, said the girls "seem to be running a competition."

At least five have offered to become engaged to Hanna, he added, though they have never seen him except in newspaper pictures. One planned to make application today for his admittance as her fiancé.

Hanna, who has no passport or citizenship papers, spent the weekend in custody in the immigration building here awaiting hearing of his appeal by a three-man board today.

He left from the Norwegian freighter Gudveig at Port Alberni, B.C., Thursday after being aboard 15 months. At least six citizens denied him permission to land after he stowed away at Beirut, Lebanon.

He was led off the freighter by Donald White, 26-year-old Vancouver lawyer who had obtained a court order on his behalf. Mr. White later applied unsuccessfully for a writ of habeas corpus, and a one-man board of inquiry ruled that Hanna would have to return to Black.

Salesman Added
To Most-Wanted
List By RCMP

OTTAWA (CP)—Real estate salesman Leonard Ewing Scott, 60, of Los Angeles, Calif., known also by at least seven aliases, today was listed on the RCMP's list of most-wanted men. Scott, wanted in Los Angeles on charges of murder, theft and forgery, jumped $25,000 bail there last May.

He is described as a naturalized American citizen, six feet tall, 197 pounds, with white hair and "piercing black eyes."

TOTAL OF SIX

Scott now is among six men listed by the RCMP. The others: William Adams, of St. Catharines, Ont., murder.

Daniel William O'Connor, of Keremeos, B.C., attempted murder. Edwin (Eddy) MacDonald, of Toronto, narcotics.

Anthony Hart Gregson, of Yellowknife, N.W.T., theft.

Philip Legros, of Toronto, fraud.

Judgment Reserved In Suit Over Mill-End Contract

Judgment was reserved by Mr. Justice Wilson in Supreme Court Friday in the case of Mahinder Singh asking damages from Acme Sawmills Ltd. for breach of contract.

Mahinder Singh had contracted with the company to take mill-end for two years, which was sold as stove wood in Victoria.

Last August, before the contract expiry date, Acme refused to sell Mahinder Singh any more wood.

The company defended on the grounds it was mutually agreed that the contract be terminated, but Mr. Justice Wilson held there was no termination by mutual consent.

Defendants were Sardara Singh and Magur Singh. Appearing for the plaintiff was George Gregory and for the defence, W. B. Montell.

A Cleaning Service You Can Trust Completely

NOW... your choice
LIQUID OR DRY

"I save money on my cleaning products..."
says Mrs. North

"... by using Javex: for kitchen and bathroom cleaning as well as in the laundry. I save work, too! For just an easy wipe-over with Javex makes porcelain surfaces shining-clean; and a little Javex in the toilet bowl works wonders."

Most women know at least 20 ways Javex saves work and cuts the cost of cleaning products.

Javex 5-IN-1 Action!

Yes! Liquid or dry—whichever you buy—there's nothing else like Javex!

What other single cleaning product does so many jobs
... and yet costs so little?

There's nothing else like Javex. A wonder-worker in your laundry, Javex also keeps porcelains jewel-bright without scratching... whitens and deodorizes toilet bowls... disinfects drains and does a dozen other labor-saving chores easily, quickly, thoroughly.

Buy your Javex in threes

By buying 3 Javex at a time and keeping one always handy in the kitchen, laundry and bathroom, you'll save countless steps every day. And in either form, Javex is equally efficient; whichever you use is purely a matter of your own preference.

Can We Get the Power Back?

FOR BRITISH COLUMBIA THE largest question raised by the Gordon Commission can be simply stated: Shall we export any of the power from the Columbia to the United States?

The commission thinks we should allow some exports. Premier Bennett says we should not. The Federal Government has always said we should not and, indeed, has stopped Mr. Bennett making the very exports which he now condemns.

All these conflicting views must have greatly confused the public. To many the Gordon Commission's plan to export power—a flat contradiction of federal policy—will seem extraordinary. But the full text of the commission's report, now available, shows that Mr. Gordon and his colleagues are not by any means in favor of unrestricted, large or permanent power exports.

In dealing with this great British Columbia problem the commission had the advice of Mr. A. E. Grauer, one of its members and head of the B.C. Power Corporation Ltd. Its resulting recommendation is summarized in a single paragraph.

Some hydro projects, it says (no doubt referring mainly to the Columbia) may produce more power than Canada can use immediately in the adjoining area, though it may all be needed there later on.

"In these circumstances," the report says, "there seems to be merit in permitting some part of the power to be exported where possible at economic rates for stated periods of years, after which it would be made available in the area for Canadian use. . . . In this way, the interests of Canadian consumers, immediate and long term, would be properly protected. This would mean cheaper electricity to the general body of consumers immediately and a safeguarding of future electrical supply for the diversified requirements of the region."

That paragraph raises grave questions. If it contradicts the long-standing policies of all Canadian governments in modern times, it seems certain to produce vigorous controversy in national politics. And it contains great dangers for the Canadian people.

Certainly the most convenient method of financing hydro development on the Columbia, for instance, is to export some of the resulting electricity to the United States when it cannot all be used immediately in Canada. Assured of a big American market, the power interests can easily raise money for their huge investment. Since they will gain a maximum income as soon as their works are installed they can afford to give the Canadian consumer minimum power rates.

This would be highly satisfactory to all concerned in the short run. But what about the long run? When the power temporarily exported to the United States is needed in British Columbia, as undoubtedly it will be, can we be sure of getting it back? Will the United States ever give it up?

The commission apparently sees no difficulty about that. It assumes that when we export power "for stated periods of years" it will be recoverable on the contractual date.

That, however, has not been our experience in the past. On the contrary, when Ontario exported power for a stated period and attempted to recover it on the contractual date, after the First World War, it found the United States unwilling to honor the contract.

The Mackenzie King Government was suddenly confronted by a note from Washington that Canada would be committing something like an unfriendly and certainly an intolerable act if it cut off the American power supply. For during the contract period large American communities and industries had become dependent on Ontario power and did not think they could survive without it.

Canada yielded, as probably it had to yield, the exports continued and the Canadian Government resolved that it would never enter into any such contracts again. Except in the most exceptional circumstances, and for short periods, the export of power was forbidden as a national policy. It is this policy which the Gordon Commission now rejects.

The Ontario exports were relatively minor. In the case of British Columbia rivers, the exports would have to be huge if they were to provide the financial foundation of these costly developments.

How can we make absolutely sure that the power will be recovered when we need it? The commission does not tell us that. It will have to convince the Federal Government that our future power supplies are safe before there will be any change in national policy and before the Canadian people would consider such a change.

Split in Australia

IN THE SUEZ CRISIS THE Australian Government was represented as standing unanimously behind the British-French intervention. This, on the word of a distinguished Australian journalist, was not correct.

Mr. R. L. Curthoys, for many years correspondent of The London Times and The New York Times in the Australian capital, and long the intimate of Australian statesmen, writes to The Winnipeg Free Press as follows:

"The Australian minister who has emerged from the Suez crisis with the enhanced esteem both of the thoughtful Australian minority and of the governments of Southeast Asia . . . is Mr. Richard G. Casey, the minister for external affairs. . . . Mr. Casey opposed Anglo-French intervention in Egypt from the moment it seemed possible.

"He and the prime minister, Mr. Menzies, led opposing factions within the cabinet. Mr. Casey was against rash measures not only because of the importance of avoiding giving offense to the strong Afro-Asian bloc in the United Nations but also because he was convinced that Colonel Nasser could not be bullied into submission by naked force. In any event he deemed this unthinkable on moral grounds.

No Premiums Please

THE CITY COUNCIL HAS acted wisely in calling for legal action against the use of so-called trading stamps by local stores.

Many communities in the United States and a number in Canada have fallen into the merchandising trap opened by this sales gimmick. The plan is that stores give away with purchases coupons of various values. When a customer has saved up coupons to a certain amount, they may be traded in for a "premium" in the form of merchandise. The retailers buy the books of tickets from promoters of the plan.

The end result of any such scheme, of course, is that the customer must pay for all merchandise received. If the "premium" is distributed as a gift, it must be paid for in higher prices for regular purchases.

In almost every case where the trading stamp scheme has been instituted, "competition among merchants has led to devices and stunts to attract customers so that increased sales will help to pay for the books of tickets. While certain retailers may increase their profits for a while, the result is usually loss for many and satisfaction for none.

Victoria can do very well without this form of high pressure selling.

The Unfailing Walls

AFTER a week in this drab, fascinating and singularly mysterious city, this reporter is not in the business of giving firm answers about the Soviet Union. But at least one thing can be said with great firmness. The Kremlin's walls really are not falling down at the moment.

It is a bit ridiculous that this rather simple fact should seem worth recording. Yet the disasters which have recently overtaken the policy and interests of the Western Alliance have inspired a very curious reaction in Washington and elsewhere. The highest American policymakers and their publicists monotonously chant, "The Soviets have their troubles, too," as though this excused our troubles.

The impression given has been ludicrously exaggerated.

Real Troubles

But while it is vital to note that any current Soviet troubles are highly unlikely to prove crippling, it is also vital to note that the Soviet troubles have been and are very real indeed. Much the most serious, of course, is the trouble in central Europe, which seems to be approaching some sort of climax.

Publicly, at least, the process began in Peking instead of Moscow. The Chinese government on Dec. 29, issued its remarkable statement condemning Marshal Tito, attacking "small nation chauvinism," and above all emphatically recognizing the "leading position of the Soviet Union in the peace camp."

The Kremlin itself had previously announced the "fraternal equality" among Communist parties. But the Soviet party now turned out to be more equal than the others. And this claim for the Russians was made by the Chinese.

Thereafter, China's Premier Chou En-lai returned home post haste from an Asian journey and set out again for Moscow. Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders attended a Budapest meeting of Eastern European Communist leaders from which Yugoslavia and Poland were conspicuously absent. In Moscow once more, the leaders of the Soviet Presidium met at length with Chou En-lai.

Warning

On the last day of this meeting, although he had of course just seen Khrushchev and the others in Budapest, Hungary's harried Premier Kadar suddenly turned up in Moscow—most probably to give Chou En-lai a first-hand, personal account of the grave menace of "counter-revolution" in Hungary. After this briefing, Chou En-lai went on to Warsaw, where he was almost certainly warning Poland's bold Premier Gomulka not to go too far on the road of liberalization, and urging him to be ready to stamp out any "counter-revolutionaries" who showed their ugly heads at the time of the Polish election on Jan. 20. And thence Chou went briefly to Budapest and then returned to Moscow for a further conference.

The pattern of complex journeys and repeated conferences betrays the agitation which the ferment in Eastern Europe has certainly caused. At the same time, the Peking statement (much more than anything which has been publicly said in Moscow) reveals the theme of all these meetings. The theme is that no nonsense will be tolerated.

At all costs, Communist regimes will be maintained in Eastern Europe. For Westerners who have not smelt the Moscow air, it is essential to note that this no-nonsense policy causes no inner moral embarrassment to the Soviet policymakers. Those who wish to understand their mood need only go back to Queen Victoria's letters at the time of the Indian Mutiny. The old lady was unshakably confident of the beneficence of English rule in India, and her main fear was that her ministers would be too soft in teaching the mutineers a lesson they would remember for their own good.

Ruthless Self-Confidence

For good or ill, the Western nations have largely lost the kind of ruthless self-confidence that Queen Victoria displayed. But that has not happened here. It is a hundred to one bet that the Soviet leaders talk among themselves about the problem in Eastern Europe, and even analyze the problem of Eastern Europe in the innermost recesses of their minds, in the peculiar language of Pravda editorials.

Their hardness of will was revealed to the foreign community here by Marshal Zhukov, after the dangerous crisis in Poland that brought Gomulka to power. It will be remembered that there were troop movements at that time. Afterwards, as has already been reported in the New York Herald Tribune, Marshal Zhukov frankly stated to diplomats here that a real counter-revolution could have and would have been rapidly crushed, if anything of the sort had occurred. The popular Washington theory, that the Red Army is more tolerant of "counter-revolution" than other sectors of the Soviet hierarchy, is in fact the purest nonsense.

Since this is the approach Hungary may endure a long agony, but will not be permitted to get out of hand again. A greater danger is an election time explosion in Poland; yet the Poles have had their warning, and very stern anti-explosion devices were clearly prepared. (Copyright 1937, N.Y. ## The Face at the Window

NEW YORK—In this city are some of the finest-looking buildings in the world. But around it are some of the worst-looking houses. The long drive in from International Airport gives you a glimpse of some of the weirdest architecture imaginable, for which even the high price of land is no excuse. You will pass a street of about thirty jammed-together, houses, incredibly narrow two-and-a-half story structures built on 25-foot lots sporting lean-to backs and ornamental false fronts. Identical in size, shape and color, they have to be seen to be believed. And even then it's difficult to admit they could exist.

Almost as depressing but seeming beautiful in contrast are the huge blocks of red brick apartment buildings creeping up on the edges of the city. Street after street of them provide housing in cliff-dweller style.

Occasionally there is a vacant lot with a huge sign promising to build a 15-story building as soon as possible. And, surprisingly, you pass a lot now and then which bears only a few scrubby trees and bushes, kept empty these last 25 years or more while the suburbs grew up around them.

Home of the Frustrated

The apartment houses are the trim blocks in which must dwell the people I used to read about in the New Yorker magazine—the folks living the queer, mixed-up, frustrated lives which, in the New Yorker style, never quite reach a climax, never quite achieve a point, never quite become authentic and complete.

They are not so much persons as citizenry, nameless digits in the right hand column of a population figure which reaches 10 millions.

I always picture the inhabitants of a big city as stoically enduring it until something better turns up and they can get away from it all. I think of them as waiting until their luck changes and they can leave the metropolis behind them, become people again and start to live.

Perhaps most of them would be highly indignant at such an attitude on my part. They would pity me as a bumpkin, a backwoodsman, a yokel. Yet New York City is full of bumpkins, backwoodsmen and yokels whose lives happen to lie in paved streets instead of gravel roads, in skyscrapers rather than fields, in subways rather than wooded valleys.

All these cliff dwellers I see as prisoners. And there can be no escape for most, not even in death. As we drove nearer the city we passed the most depressing cemetery I have ever seen.

Acres upon acres of it lay on either side of the road, with lines drawn in the adjacent clay fields to mark where future graves will be. The markers were all the same—four-foot stones like fence posts, less than an inch or two between them in their crowded rows, a metropolis of tiny skyscrapers. New York's skyline in mordant miniature.

Still Crowded

And from the great, soot-stained towers of the city will come these people at the end, to find their rest among the small, soot-stained towers of the cemetery, still elbow-to-elbow, still cheek-by-jowl, still prisoners of the metropolis.

The countless windows of the countless red brick boxes were blank. But at one glass square appeared a face—a woman's face gazing out upon the flowing traffic. It was featureless, unreadable, a mere symbol of a face such as appears in a mural painting.

One could picture that face-looking out of any one of the thousands of windows. It would look exactly the same in each case. It might be looking out of all the windows at the same time, a mosaic of repetitious humanity, each with its own story perhaps, each with its own joys, sorrows, fears, hopes, but in the sum total differing not a whit from the others—human yet mechanical, personal yet impersonal, individual yet part of a mass—the face of New York.

Unity in Diversity

In view of the recent tragic developments in the Near and Middle East, and the attendant confusion of conflicting opinions among the member nations of the British Commonwealth, it would appear that some definite form of organization to strengthen the thoughts and desires of the people of the countries comprising the British Commonwealth of Nations.

It is with this thought in mind that the following suggestion is submitted.

There should be a non-sectarian organization known as The British Commonwealth Federation of Nations.

The object of such an organization would be to strengthen the cultural, economic and territorial sovereignty of the various nations comprising the British Commonwealth of Nations.

To put this object into effect, the federation should function as a council on a permanent basis.

It should be a delegate body. The qualifications for delegates to the federation council should be determined by their respective abilities in the cultural, economic and governmental institutions of each nation.

Equal representation, with a maximum of three members should be allowed each member nation on the following basis:

One delegate representing the cultural institutions; one delegate representing the economic institutions; and one delegate representing governmental institutions.

Cultural institutions would include service clubs, educational groups, fraternal societies and religious bodies. Economic institutions would include Boards of Trade, Chambers of Commerce and Organized Labor. Governmental institutions would include national governments, provincial governments, civic and municipal governments.

The expenses of the Federation should be borne by the governments of the member nations, and the personal expenses of the delegates should be paid by the respective institutions they have been appointed to represent.

Concerning Tight Money

THERE is an overriding condition in U.S. domestic affairs which is that the American economy, though enormously productive as compared with any that has ever existed, is still not productive enough for all the demands made upon it. With full employment there is not enough labor, and with the basic industries in full production there are serious shortages in critical goods, labor and the materials do not exist to supply the total demand.

The economy cannot produce all that consumers want to buy, plus all that corporations would like to spend and to borrow for capital goods, plus all that the federal government needs to spend on defence and its welfare measures, plus all that the state and local governments are being pressed to spend on schools, hospitals, roads, recreation and other public works.

Although the American economy is growing prodigiously, it is not growing fast enough to keep up with the growth of the population, with the rapid rise in what Americans have come to expect as their proper standard of living, and with the expanding commitments and responsibilities of the United States. The American economy is strained and under severe inflationary pressure.

Not Enough

This situation raises two major problems of national policy. The one, which is well known and generally understood, is the problem of combatting inflation—that is to say, of managing the supply of money and credit so that the total demand for goods and services is kept in balance with the supply.

But insofar as we solve the fundamental problem of preventing inflation, we run into a second problem which is not so well understood. About it there are many differing views among the experts and authorities. This is the problem of how to allocate the reduced supply of credit. It is a problem of how to ration credit as between the stronger borrowers, like the big corporations, and the weaker borrowers like home builders; and as between public borrowing, say, for schools, and private borrowings, say, for office buildings.

The fact is that about the best the federal government can do is to keep expenditures from rising as fast as they might. With our growing population and our growing public needs at home and abroad, there is no prospect of reduction in public spending.

The real burden of combatting inflation rests on the Federal Reserve Board because of its power to expand or to contract the volume of money that the banks are able to lend. The Federal Reserve Board has been using its power with great courage and true public spirit. The result is the famous tight money policy, and to that policy the country owes the fact that the inflationary rise in prices is being held down to moderate proportions.

But as the tight money policy takes effect, the second problem arises. This is the problem of the allocation of the reduced supply of credit among the various interests, public and private, who want to borrow. The allocation today is made by the financial markets, and as the supply of credit is less than the demand, the price of credit, that is to say the rate of interest, is rising. This means that those who can afford to pay the most get the most credit. Credit is expensive and scarce for the weaker interests, for small businessmen, for families in need of mortgages to build homes, and for states and localities needing to borrow for public works.

Complaint

There is much complaint in Congress on behalf of farmers and businessmen about the allocation of credit as between them and the big corporations. The problem of allocation is posed even more sharply for the states and localities which need to issue bonds for schools, roads, and other public works. They are finding that the high interest rate and the tight money policy are a great burden.

It is easier to pose the problem than to solve it. But this much at least is clear. We must resist inflation. We must therefore keep the supply of credit lower than the total needs and wishes of private interests and public authorities. But having done that, we must examine the question whether, in the competition of the financial market, the public interest in schools and other public works is adequately taken care of.

If it is not, as almost certainly it is not, then we shall have to devise remedies.

Margaret

LET'S call her Margaret. I'm sure you've seen her—slim, trim, efficient, with just a thread of grey in her well-kept hair.

She has two children and a husband and a home to look after, and yet she's working in city store or office, or school or hospital. She has her own pay cheque. She has her job quite separate from her family. And yet she has her natural maternal instincts, and from centuries of training, she knows her primary task is in the home.

I am very interested in the "Margarets" of this continent. They're such a distinctive feature of this modern age, and especially of North America where the technological civilization of the West is more advanced than in most other countries.

I'd like to learn the ages of Margaret's children, and why she's working at a job outside her home. Is it because she's bored by housework and raising children? Is it because the little modern home with all its labor-saving gadgets doesn't leave her enough work to keep her happy?

Is it because she held a professional job before her marriage and found the loneliness of stay-at-home more than she could take? Or does she feel that she has specialized knowledge which she must make use of and not let go to waste? (I know several women with college degrees for whom this is definitely the reason.)

Or—and I suspect this is usually the truth—is her husband's salary not enough to maintain the very high standard of living on this continent?

How does Margaret spend her pay cheque? Does it go for payments on house or car or television or washer or deep freeze, etc.?

Does she spend it on cultural advantages for the children; on partial support for elderly parents whose pensions or annuities have been so reduced by rising prices?

What does Margaret do if small children are sick and cannot go to school? How does she manage in the school vacations? If she has domestic help, is what she earns worth the effort after she has paid out wages for someone else to do her work in the home?

If Margaret doesn't have domestic help, then how does she ever manage the washings, the mending, the letters and all the odd chores that form an inescapable part of family life?

Does Margaret's husband dislike the thought of his wife working outside the home? Or is he thankful to have a second wage earner in the family?

What would Margaret's grandmother think if she came back and saw the modern setup? (We hear a lot about how hard Grandma worked without any of our modern equipment. But I'm beginning to think that Margaret works just as hard as Grandma ever did. Only in a different kind of way.)

What effect has Margaret's separate pay cheque had upon the marriage pattern of this continent? Does it mean earlier marriages? Is it one of the reasons why many marriages break up nowadays? Didn't many of the last century's marriages last simply because the woman had no way of supporting herself if she went flouncing off?

What effect have all the working Margarets had upon men's attitude to women? Is it logical to expect chivalry of any kind from men when both sexes are competing for the same jobs?

When you consider how the position of women has changed in the last 100 years, what is likely to happen in the century to come?

Will more and more women go out to work until the woman who stays home becomes a freak and an exception?

If so, what happens to the children? Someone has to look after them: Or will they be popped into state creches even before they can crawl?

Will the homes of the future be empty all the day, and silent except for automatic machines clicking on and off?

Did the people who fought for women's rights to equal education, equal pay and job opportunities ever visualize what the results of their struggles would be?

I don't know the answers to any of these questions, but when I consider the modern Margaret, I often wonder about the shape of things to come.

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

Bootees From Victoria

LONDON—I sit here at my desk looking out on a cold, bleak day—one of the batch of them which we have been having lately.

I have been through my mail. This included from my mother a postal order for each of the youngsters. This happens at their birthdays and each Christmas and has prompted Robin this year to inquire: "Is your mother a millionaire?"

Also among my mail, as is invariably the case, were letters from readers. These are always interesting. Today's Canadian mail included a letter from a woman reader in Brockville who asked whether we would like her to come over and be our housekeeper.

A reader who lives on Toronto's Dowling Avenue wants to know whether I'd like to take over a house he owns in Dorset. And Mrs. A. N. Lambert of Victoria, B.C., has sent him a dozen pairs of bootees for the forthcoming event, which was thoughtful of her.

So now I settle down to do a column, and I must confess to you that over the past weeks I have been in somewhat of a dilemma about this.

There is no doubt about the fact that since the last war the English have never been as worried and perturbed as they are now. The whole business of the Middle East and the possible wider repercussions hang over them like a pall. It permeates everything they do and think.

This sets rather a problem for a writer. For a creative writer, of course, it calls for some real soul searching—just as it does for anyone in a creative field such as painting, pictures, producing plays, composing music.

As he tries to get on with his work he asks himself: "What is the point of this little thing I am working on, in the face of the prospect of the world being plunged into war?" And, according to the type of person he is, he either shelves whatever it is he is trying to create or sets himself up in an ivory tower and carries on.

But for a writer of any sort, whether creative or not, the problem is here. Caught up in what is preoccupying all minds around him, he finds himself wanting to do nothing but write about it.

However, I have to remember that to tell you each day that the English are disturbed and fearful of war is to tell you something which you already know. Day after day over recent weeks headlines and news stories in your papers have been bringing home to you the situation here and in the rest of Europe. Newscasts on your radio and TV sets reiterate it.

Therefore I should tell you of the aspects of everyday life carrying on here normally. If I did not, you would get from the daily news stories a somewhat distorted picture of life here at present. Amid intangibles such as the fear of war and tangible things such as the rationing of petrol, there are day-by-day goings-on here which you would like to hear about. I must just shed this current preoccupation with world affairs and tell you about them.

Vancouver Man Badly Hurt As Home Burns

(FROM CP DISPATCHES)

VANCOUVER—Jim Doughty, 33, suffered severe burns Sunday night when he attempted to retrieve a television set from his burning home here.

The four-room house and its contents were destroyed. Also feared lost was $500 in cash which Doughty had borrowed to repair the home.

An explosion in a wood and coal stove was blamed for the fire.

Neighbors said Doughty dashed into the house when it went up in flames in an attempt to save a television set. He was taken to Vancouver General Hospital suffering from severe hand and face burns.

DEPUTY CHIEF DIES

NEW WESTMINSTER—John Edward Allen, deputy chief of the New Westminster police force for 13 years, died Sunday. He had been associated with the New Westminster force for almost 30 years. Death was due to cancer of the throat.

WATER SERVICE RESTORED

KINNAIRD—Water service was resumed here after residents' taps had been dry for 12 hours, following a break in the village's main water line. The break was caused when an obsolete float system in the village water tank froze, causing the tank to overflow.

2-CAR CRASH INJURES 3

KELOWNA—Three Okanagan Mission people were taken to hospital here Sunday afternoon following a head-on collision between two cars five miles south of Kelowna.

They are Peter Barclay, Mrs. Herb Hunt and Miss Carmen Comer. Barclay suffered rib fractures, two fractured knee caps and lacerations, while Miss Comer escaped with a black eye. Mrs. Hunt's injuries were not immediately known.

BOAT THIEF SENTENCED

WEST VANCOUVER (CP)—Wilfred Ernest Coull, 31, of Victoria, was sentenced Saturday to penitentiary terms totalling 6½ years after pleading guilty to four charges involving theft of a boat here and articles from other boats.

Magistrate Gordon Robson ordered the sentences to be served concurrently with a number of other sentences imposed last week for theft in Port Alberni and Sidney.

Saturday's charges included theft of a $3,500 cabin cruiser owned by Vernon Tryson of Vancouver. It was stolen from Fisherman's Cove here between Dec. 29 and Jan. 1, and found wrecked at Cafe Beale, near Bamfield, on the west coast of Vancouver Island.

Tory Organization in Province Receives Diefenbaker's Okay

VANCOUVER (CP)—National Progressive Conservative leader John Diefenbaker has put his seal of approval on an organizational committee of the B.C. Federal Council—as the instrument to lead the party's campaign in British Columbia.

The announcement Sunday by Leon Ladner, chairman of the council, ended speculation as to whether Diefenbaker might dissolve the council.

Mr. Ladner denied a report that he had been appointed "a special representative" of Diefenbaker.

News of Mr. Diefenbaker's decision was given to the federal council at a meeting here Saturday.

Mr. Ladner explained: "In Mr. Diefenbaker's communication with me he urged that the special organizational committee of the B.C. federal council of the Progressive Conservative party of Canada, appointed some weeks ago, should be completed as soon as possible to be ready for the general election expected next June."

"We should find candidates in each federal constituency right away."

3 Top Officials Speak Thursday On Area Planning

Three top-level speakers on community planning will comprise a panel Thursday at 8 p.m. at 904 Government Street, under auspices of the local branch, Community Planning Association of Canada.

Chairman of the Capital Improvement District Commission, R. A. Pennington, speaks on "Terms of Reference." Deputy Minister of Municipal Affairs J. E. Brown speaks on the general subject of "Projects," and Deputy Public Works Minister Clive Campbell speaks on planning of government buildings.

LUMBERMAN REVIEWS TOUR

Low-Flying Worries Visitors to Russia

CHEMAMUS—A 7,500-mile, two-week tour of Russia was described here by Hector Stone, general manager of Hillcrest Lumber Co., Mesachie Lake, at a meeting of Chemamus Rotary Club.

Mr. Stone was one of a group of Canadian lumbermen and forestry officials who visited Russia last summer as guests of the Soviet government. During the tour, which included several cities and many industrial sites, Mr. Stone took 200 pictures. Most of them were shown at the luncheon.

FLAT COUNTRY

Members of the group who had boarded a plane at Stockholm for the flight to Moscow were a little apprehensive about the flight to the Russian capital "because the plane flew at only 250 feet."

"However, we found that Russia is an extremely flat country. The plane landed at Moscow airport at 1.30 in the morning. There are only about three flights a week into Moscow, and why the plane had to land at 1.30 in the morning, no one could explain," he said.

One of the first things the Canadian delegation noticed was the number of women working. "Women work on the planes."

CHEMAMUS—Plans for the federal nominating convention, to be held here next month, were discussed at a special meeting of the Chemamus Social Credit group.

No nominees from Chemamus were put forth at the meeting, but local Secreds heard from three Nanaimo men who are seeking the nomination. They are Don Wilson, H. Hine and George Molecey.

Water Reveals Whisky's true Flavour

Water (plain or sparkling) is your most reliable guide to the whole truth about any whisky. Water adds nothing, detracts nothing, but reveals a whisky's true natural flavour and bouquet. Put Seagram's "83" to the water test and you'll agree—to be that good with water, it must be a superb whisky and a more satisfying drink with any man's favourite mixer.

Fish Traps At Sooke To Reopen

SOOKE—A crew of 20 men started work today toward erecting the Sooke fish traps, shut down in 1955 and idle all through 1956.

Capt. J. Collins, manager of the J. H. Todd & Sons Ltd. operation here, said the first task will be removal of piling that has been stored on Whiffin Spit. Necessary wire netting has arrived from Great Britain, and driving of piling will start in late February, Capt. Collins said.

MAY TO OCTOBER

Fishing will start in the first week in May, he said, and will end Oct. 20. The crew, however, will work until mid-December taking the traps down and storing materials for the winter.

The five traps extend outward from the shore at Beechey Head, Sooke, Otter Point, Gordon Beach and Coal Creek.

They were closed down after a poor season in 1955, when purse seiners made record catches and for some time were dropping their nets in the immediate vicinity of the traps.

Meyers' Rink In B.C. Final

VANCOUVER (CP)—Alberni Valley High School Saturday won the B.C. regional playoffs in the high school curling association by defeating Chilliwack 11-8.

Alberni then defeated Vancouver's Lord Byng rink, 19-3. The Vancouver Island rink now will meet teams from the other two B.C. zones—Okanagan and Kootenay—for the provincial championship, in Vancouver, Feb. 2.

Eighteen-year-old Barry Meyers skipped the Alberni rink to victory.

Members of Meyers' rink were Jack Arnett, third; Bob Christie, second; and Ed McAskill, lead.

'10th Rate Culture Preferred Because It Pays' Says Cameron

TORONTO (CP)—The economic role of the individual Canadian is a cog in the wheel of mass production or possibly as a purchaser of its products but nothing more, Colin Cameron, CCF member of Parliament for Nanaimo, said Sunday night.

Mr. Cameron said the fault lies not with government, industry or the individual but with an economic system which concentrates control of the wealth of a country in the hands of a few persons.

He was addressing a Socialist forum at the United Steel Workers Hall. He said the typical, individual Canadian prefers shoddy 10th rate culture because it pays.

"If improvement is not the purpose of our society, then mass suicide is the only alternative."

To eat up the increased production of processes like automation, Mr. Cameron said, people must be conditioned to buy new models of everything

Bruin Star Fading

By The Canadian Press
One player may not make a hockey team, but to some clubs he can be just the difference between winning and losing.

Boston Bruins would bear witness to that today after a weekend in which they lost two games and dropped further off the pace in the National Hockey League.

While they were leading the NHL for most of the first half of the season Bruins found no better pickings than Toronto Maple Leafs, but Saturday and Sunday they dropped 4-1 and 3-2 decisions to the same Leafs and slipped deep into third place.

The reason? The big one can only be Terry Sawchuk. With the great netminder protecting them Bruins could be outshot by a wide margin and still win.

The two big wins gave Leafs a five-point lead over fifth-place New York Rangers, who lost 5-0 to Montreal Canadiens Saturday and 5-2 to Detroit Red Wings Sunday.

The Wings edged Chicago Black Hawks 3-2 Saturday and moved to within two points of first-place Canadiens, who had a seven-game winning streak snapped 4-2 by the last-place Hawks Sunday.

Bruins still have a 10-point advantage over Toronto, but the odds against them holding it would seem to be slimmer every day they are without Sawchuk, who until today still hadn't explained his reasons for quitting.

Saturday, Bruin manager Lynn Patrick said his club will win the Stanley Cup—with Sawchuk in goal. Patrick said he hadn't talked with Terry, but was sure he will return "within a month."

Lindsay, Howe Gain Ground In Point Race

Two Detroit stars, Gordie Howe and Ted Lindsay, are closing in on Montreal's Jean Beliveau in the National Hockey League scoring race.

Beliveau was held pointless in two weekend games as Howe picked up four points and Lindsay three.

The leaders:	G	A	Pts
Beliveau, Montreal	24	14	58
Howe, Detroit	27	27	54
Lindsay, Detroit	22	32	54
N. Elmer, Montreal	19	20	39

Ullman, Detroit	9	19	28
Moore, Montreal	22	15	37

Pancho's Power Overwhelms Ken

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Pancho Gonzales had just too much power again Sunday for Ken Rosewall as he defeated the young Australian in straight sets to take a 3-1 lead in their 100-match professional tennis series. The scores were 9-7, 7-5, 9-7.

Steaming rallies between the big American and the wiry Aussie thrilled 10,000 at White City but the fans left the stadium generally convinced Gonzales packs too many big guns for their clever idol.

In two Sydney meetings Rosewall failed to win a set.

Ken, however, put up a much better showing Sunday than he did Friday when he was able to take only six games.

C-Fun Avenges Alberni Defeat

ALBERNI (CP) — Vancouver C-Fun, out to avenge a defeat handed them by Alberni Friday night, squeezed out a 64-63 win over the Athletics in a senior "A" exhibition basketball game here Saturday night.

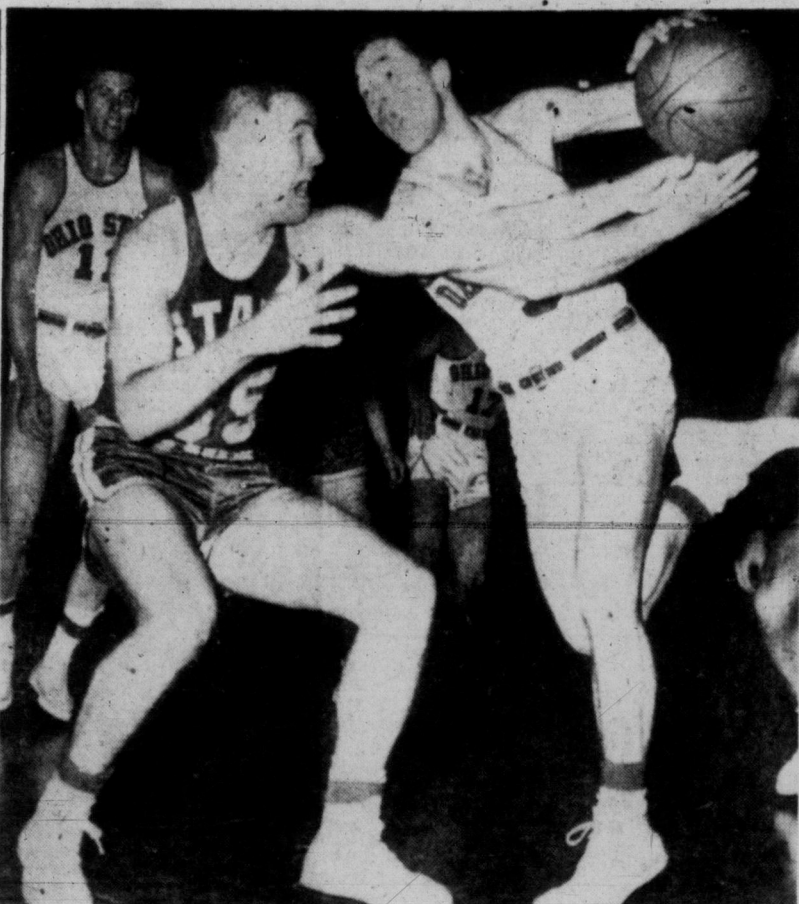

Friday night, Alberni defeated C-Fun 89-85.

Alberni's Ron Bissett again turned in an outstanding performance, totalling 27 points. C-Fun's top marksman—Bob Pickell—was high man for his team with 22 points.

Ed Tears Down Stretch To Take Caliente Open

AGUA CALIENTE, Mex. (UP)—Old Ed Furgol, a 12-1 shot in the betting, came tearing down the home stretch to win the $15,000 Caliente Open golf derby by a nose from the fast-closing Al Bessellink yesterday.

In a dramatic windup to one of the "gamblingest" PGA tournaments on record, the former National Open champion, now playing out of St. Andrews, Ill., nipped Bessellink on the second hole of a play-off to decide the champion.

The two men had ended the tournament in a deadlock for first place, each with an eight-under-par score of 280. Then they opened their private duel in the darkness, cold and rain—with Furgol capturing the $2,000 first prize when he got a par on the 450-yard hole as Bessellink bogied.

"It was Ed's turn to win from me," said Bessellink later. "I beat him in the same kind of a race in the $15,000 Havana Open last month.

"I played the best nine holes of golf I ever played in my life on that final nine, shot a 34—and when I didn't go past Furgol then I knew I wouldn't win."

Only Players Changed In 1957 Grid Picture

WINNIPEG (CP)—As far as fans are concerned, professional football in Canada this year will be players.

This was indicated today following the annual meeting of the Canadian Football Council, controlling body of the Big Four and Western Interprovincial Football Unions.

Three minor changes were approved and three more were sent to the Canadian Rugby Union for consideration.

The three changes approved almost certainly will be passed by the CRU.

There will be no change in the Grey Cup classic. It will remain a single game with the seats again selling at a top of $10. The Ontario Rugby Football Union will not compete in the Canadian championship for the third successive year. All clubs will use 12 imports as in 1956.

Few playing rule changes are expected. The CFC only asked for three which were recommended by the separate annual meetings of the Big Four and WIFU here Friday and Saturday.

NEW OFFSIDE PENALTY

Changes provide that: 1. A five-yard penalty will be handed out when a player who is offside comes in contact with an opponent and returns onside before the ball is put in play.

2. The stripe marking the closest point to the sidelines where the ball can be scrimmaged will be moved out 20 yards, instead of 15, from each sideline. The move would give teams more running room along the touchlines.

3. The position names in the CRU rule book will be revised to take on the "more up-to-date" form of centre, guard, tackle and end instead of snap, inside wing, middle wing and outside wing.

The leagues could not agree on three other proposals, two from the WIFU and one from the Big Four, and these will be left to the discretion of the CRU rules committee.

The WIFU wanted unlimited blocking on pass interceptions and 10-yard blocking for all offensive players. The Big Four asked that the ball be declared "dead" when a ball carrier falls to one knee or one hand.

Ray's Buddy Role Ends; Same Old Villain Again

Stars in Relief Role; Marcel Back Tonight

The strange fortunes of hockey war made the Victoria Cougars and Ray Mikulan buddies Saturday night, but tonight, Mikulan is just another robber trying to take playoff money out of the Cougar pockets.

Vancouver Canuck goalie, Mikulan, is accustomed to doing the Cougars wrong wherever possible, but Saturday night in New Westminster, he found himself playing goal for the Cougars as regular goalie Marcel Pelletier was kept out of action by a cut hand suffered Friday night.

The only trouble was, Cougars neglected to bring New Westminster goalie Bev Bentley in on the temporary truce and Bentley scored his third shutout of the season against the Cougars, blanking them 4-0.

Tonight, the Cougars host Canucks at Memorial Arena.

Pelletier will be in his proper place—in the Cougar nets.

Mikulan will be in his proper place—in the Vancouver nets.

Gene, Walt Turn On The Heat

Gene Hoover of Vancouver and Walt Pettit of San Francisco just about burned the Victoria Squash Club down Sunday afternoon with one of the hottest matches ever played in the city.

The pair of top-seeded racquet stars, Hoover the defending champion, met as expected in the final of the Pacific Northwest championships, but Hoover had to reach down and scrape the bottom of his bag of tricks before he disposed of Pettit in an "A" class final match that went five sets.

Set scores were 15-6, 11-15, 15-15, 17-15, 16-13.

Pettit showed sound court coverage and appeared to have the match won in the fourth set. However, Hoover's superior stamina and, above all, his fighting spirit, brought him back from the brink of defeat to another title.

The New Westminster victory moved them into sole position of second place in the league standings, two points ahead of Vancouver and three in front of Victoria.

Cougars, with a win tonight, could close in to within one point of the Canucks and three behind the Royals with one game in hand.

HOST REGALS

The Cats play the Brandon Regals this Friday night before leaving for a four-game prairie trip, their last of three prairie safaris this season.

New Westminster goal scorers were Bob Love, Aro Goodwin, Steve Hrymnaik and Max McNab.

Referee Scotty Morrison descended on the Cougars with an iron hand, giving them 25 minutes in penalties.

Defenceman Bill Dobbyn took over the league lead in the penalty department as he drew three minors and a 10-minute misconduct, all in the space of nine minutes of the last period.

LAST-SECOND GOAL

Clock-Watcher Bob Has Dramatic Flair

Goals don't come more dramatic than the counter Bob Robinson scored Saturday in a pee-wee division game.

Robinson scored with only one second remaining in the game to give Maroons a 4-4 tie with Capitals.

Other scorers for the Maroons were Paul Moretti, Bjorn Stavrum and Glen Vickers. Wayne Anderson scored three times for Capitals with Harold Williams getting the other goal.

Clyde Parks and Bob Fisher scored to give Senators a 2-1 win over Flyers, and Bombers nipped Royals 3-2.

Don Wilson, with two, and Larry Johnson did the Bomber scoring while Bob Knezacky and Dave Chapman picked up Royal goals.

This week's schedule follows:

TUESDAY 7:00 a.m.—Bantam all-star workout. 8:00 p.m.—Juniors vs. juveniles.

WEDNESDAY 5:30 p.m.—Bantam all-stars vs. Nanaimo.

THURSDAY 7:00 a.m.—Midget, Canucks vs. Cougars. 6:00 p.m.—Midget all-star workout.

Clippers Break Loose To Down UBC Club

Nanaimo Clippers, held to a 2-2 tie in the first two periods, broke loose with a five-goal outburst in the third period Saturday night to defeat University of British Columbia, 7-2, in an Island-Mainland Amateur Hockey League game at Nanaimo.

In spite of Nanaimo's goal-total, the individual star of the game was UBC's goalie, Mary Tansley, who stopped a total of 52 shots.

His time was a fine 8:52-1.9 seconds off the world record. The result spoiled Tabori's U.S. debut, but pleased him nevertheless.

Dwyer, who vows he will be the first American to run a mile in four minutes or less, had managed a routine 4:13—plus timing the previous week in the Metropolitan AAU event, launching the indoor season.

At Boston Garden it was a different story. Dwyer, who had hung behind Tabori and Horace Ashenfelter most of the route, broke to the front in the final lap of the half. His last quarter mile was clocked in a slightly sensational 58.8 seconds.

Tabori, the great distance man who has run a mile in 3:58.9, was so fresh he was hardly drawing a long breath at the finish.

"I am very much satisfied with my performance," Tabori continued. "I thought that anyone who ran under nine minutes would defeat me."

"I didn't think I could get under nine minutes; his time was 8:54.3."

Scots Have Best Night Of Tour

FORT WILLIAM (CP) — The touring Scottish curlers gave their best performance to date in their Canadian visit Saturday when they won three and tied one in five games against picked rinks of Fort William and Northwestern Ontario.

In so doing the Scots reduced their over-all deficit in the Strathcona Cup series by 12 points but still trail their Canadian opponents by a total-point score of 737 to 500.

Thunderbirds Make Rally Good

VANCOUVER (CP) — The University of British Columbia Thunderbirds tied the score late in the game and went on to defeat University of Western Washington Vikings 57-48 in an overtime basketball game here Saturday.

Some 400 fans saw the Evergreen Conference game, which was televised.

UBC went ahead 22-16 in the first half. The Thunderbirds blew a 10-point lead in the fourth quarter and Western Washington went three points ahead. The Vancouver crew fought back again, however, and tied it up.

Oak Bay Trips Byng

Oak Bay High School caught the visiting Lord Byng team on the rebound Saturday night and knocked them kicking in an inter-city high school basketball game.

Fresh from a Friday night win over Vic High Totems, the Vancouver club fell victim to Oak Bay by a 35-30 score.

Jack Showers scored 14 points for the Oak Bay club to lead their victory.

Harv Rocks and Rolls To Badminton Crown

FIELDING DAYS OVER, GRANNY TO TRY MOUND

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Granny Hamner, only a few years ago rated as one of the top shortstops in the major leagues, may be through as an infielder. The fiery Hamner, who led the "Whiz Kids" of the Philadelphia Phillies to a National League pennant in 1950, is going to try a comeback as a pitcher. He's listed as one of 20 pitchers scheduled to attend the Phillies rookie school opening Feb. 7 at Clearwater, Fla.

Hamner, a 29-year-old veteran of nine major league seasons, told reporter Ray Kelly of the Philadelphia Bulletin that a carry-over left shoulder injury is threatening his career as a shortstop-second baseman.

'God's Plan to Teach Me Lesson' Says Plump U.K. Murder Suspect

EASTBOURNE, Eng. (AP)—The detective who arrested Dr. John Bodkin Adams on a murder charge testified today that the portly society physician urged him to conduct his investigations thoroughly since "it is in my interests."

Detective superintendent Herbert Hannam said the accused told him in conversations that he thought the cloud of rumors which gathered around him were "all God's plan to teach me a lesson."

Hannam, ace Scotland Yard investigator, was a major witness as the second week of the preliminary hearing began. Scotland Yard maintains that Adams, inflamed by greed, pumped massive doses of narcotics into three patients and was responsible for their deaths.

The 260-pound doctor is accused specifically of murdering Mrs. Edith Morrell, who died in 1950 at the age of 81 after bequeathing Adams a chest of antique silver. Adams later received a Rolls-Royce from her son.

The hearing in this ultra-respectable seaside town is being conducted before five examining justices of the peace, who will decide whether the evidence warrants sending the case to trial before judge and jury.

Adams, 58 today, sat impassively in the courtroom. His lawyer handed him a bundle of

Air Bomb Hoax Causes Scare At U.S. Bases

Causes Scare At U.S. Bases

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—An apparent bomb hoax, touched off in Hawaii while several planes were flying in the Pacific, resulted in a search at Honolulu, in San Francisco, Portland and Los Angeles of fabled airliners Sunday—but no bomb.

The FBI in Honolulu was telephoned at 1:40 a.m. Hawaii time. A man said he had planted a bomb on a plane. He hung up without giving any further details.

A Japan Air Lines plane in Honolulu was out on the runway ready to take off. It taxied back and was searched.

Pan American searched two planes in San Francisco and a third in Los Angeles after they landed Sunday.

Northwest Orient searched a plane in Portland.

United Air Lines had no planes aloft but searched a Qantas plane on its arrival in San Francisco.

A UAL plane was involved in another bomb scare Saturday night.

Someone called UAL in Seattle and said there was a bomb aboard a DC-7 flying non-stop from Seattle to Los Angeles.

The plane landed in San Francisco. No bomb was found.

letters, including several birth cards.

Hannam, impeccable in dress and manner, was almost a prototype of the detective of fiction as he testified, the 38th witness to be called. He conducted the investigations that involved thumbing through the wills of about 400 persons.

The detective said the doctor in conversation pictured himself as a dedicated man. Early in the proceedings Adams asked him: "You are finding all these rumors untrue, aren't you?"

PLEADS DEDICATION

Hannam said he replied: "I am sorry to say that is not my experience, doctor." Then he quoted the doctor as saying: "It is strange. I live for my work. I gave a vow to God that I would look after my national poor patients (no fee paying). I am not taking any more but I have kept my vow. Day and night I turn out for them. I never ask anybody else to do it for me. I think this makes people jealous of me."

Adams was quoted as making this remark about his patients generally:

"I have one thing in life, and God knows I have vowed to Him I would, that is to relieve pain and try to let these dear people live as long as possible."

Hannam said he confronted Adams with the fact that the doctor had prescribed 75 one-sixth grain heroin tablets for Mrs. Morrell the day before she died and recounted this conversation:

Adams: "Poor soul, she was in terrible agony. It was all used. I used them myself."

TOO MUCH?

Hannam: "Surely the quantity of dangerous drugs obtained for Mrs. Morrell during the last week of her life alone would have been fatal?"

Adams: "I am not dishonest with drugs. Mrs. Morrell had all these and I gave the injections. Do you think it was too much?"

BUBBLY JOCK, CHAPIT TATTIES

Two Burns' Night Dinners Set for Friday Night

Two Burns' Night dinners — with the traditional fare of roast bubbly jock, chapit tatties, neeps, haggis and plum dum — will be held Friday.

The 198th anniversary of the birth of Robert Burns will be marked in Loughheed's Banquet Club by the Burns Club of Victoria.

Speakers and guest artists will be piped to the headtable by club piper John Low.

Rev. T. H. McAllister, club chaplain, will deliver the Address to the Haggis, and haggis-bearer will be past president John Mackay.

Brig. J. Bryden Stevenson, former president of the Vancouver Scottish Society, will come from the mainland to give the address and toast to "The Immortal Memory."

St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society will hold its Burns Night dinner and ball in the Empress Hotel ballroom.

The haggis, borne by John Robertson, will be piped in by pipe-majors Ian Duncan and Andy Pollock. Escorts with drawn claymores will be James Craig and William Brown.

Past president of the society Tom Wallace will give the Address to the Haggis, and "The Immortal Memory" will be toasted by P. S. Watt.

The Hudson's Bay Company will honor Robert Burns Friday with free haggis and a 59-cent Scottish lunch in the store restaurant.

Address to the Haggis will be given by George Houston, Scottish-born assistant manager of the foods department.

Free haggis may be obtained from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., Friday and at half-hour periods two pipers and a drummer will pipe in a chef bearing the haggis.

TWO for the SHOW

By PHIL LEE

A (Don't Miss) AA (Once a Week) B (For Rainy Days) BB (Worldwide) C (To Put in Time)

(A PLUS) "FRIENDLY PERSUASION" (Royal) — For a thoroughly enjoyable family movie. "Friendly Persuasion" will be hard to beat.

It has all the moods. At times it is peaceful, like the countryside on a hot July day. At other times it is as roaring and ugly as war. There is love for the young and love for their elders. There is a mischievous young boy and a pet goose.

UNDER THE SKILLFUL HAND of director William Wyler, "Friendly Persuasion" tells of a Quaker family whose beliefs make them hold aloof from the Civil War. Then their eldest son joins up when the troops start invading the local area. Inevitably the family bows to change wrought by circumstance.

As head of the family, Quaker Gary Cooper sticks to his guns: man must not slay his fellow man. He also sticks up for other Quaker beliefs such as no gambling, no dancing, no this and especially no that. But inside Quaker Cooper is a most happy fellow who just can't

Canada's '56 Immigrant Total May Be 165,000

OTTAWA (CP) — Immigration to Canada in 1956 is expected to total between 164,000 and 165,000, greatest number of post-war arrivals since 1953.

Final figures for the year also are expected to show that more than 50,000 immigrants came from the United Kingdom, the largest figure in the post-war period since 1946 when 41,408 arrived.

The largest number of immigrants to arrive in Canada in any one year was in 1913 when some 500,000 came.

Final figures for the year are expected to be announced soon by the immigration department.

resist buying an organ, much to the chagrin of wife Dorothy McGuire, a Quaker minister. Indeed Dorothy is so upset that she takes her bedding to the barn. Trouble is Quaker Cooper joins her there and they happily work out a solution to all their problems.

"FRIENDLY PERSUASION" is at its funniest when the Quaker family journeys to the fair to mingle with the outside world. It is at its gentlest during the love scenes between Mark Richman and Phyllis Love. And at its most brutal during its one war scene. Anthony Perkins portrays the eldest son with warmth and compassion while little Richard Eyer gives another good account of himself.

THIS is a family treat. Try not to miss it.

TIMES CARRIERS THANK READERS FOR PATIENCE

The Times today joins its delivery boys in expressing appreciation to its readers for their patience over delays in delivery during Saturday's snowstorm, particularly in the country areas. Almost impassable hills delayed vehicles going into the Sooke and Jordan River districts until very late in the evening. Up-Island points were reached at even later hours. Carrier boys, who did a yeoman job during the storm, will do their best to see the paper is delivered as early as possible during the bad weather.

Colwood Home Razed By Fire; No Insurance

A young couple lost all their possessions Sunday night in a fire which demolished a two-room dwelling in Colwood. No one was in the house at the time the fire broke out, about 6 p.m.

Mrs. Clinton Wilson and her young baby were visiting at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. G. R. Wishart, on the same property. Mr. Wilson was working in the interior.

The house, valued at about $2,000, was owned by Mrs. Wishart. It is situated on a large farm property on Wishart Road, not far from the junction of Sooke and Methosin Roads.

Cause of the blaze has not been determined, but it is believed it may have started from a wood and coal heater.

Colwood volunteer fire department reached the house from the station about a mile away but was unable to check the flames which were coming through the roof.

Inside, the couple lost clothing and all their furnishings, including a living room suite, television set and refrigerator.

NO INSURANCE

Value of the furnishings was estimated at $1,500. Neither the house nor contents were insured.

Mr. Wilson, a sheet-metal worker, was in Grand Forks and returned today. The couple intended to move to the interior town in a week.

Another fire in an outlying district Saturday night caused about $2,000 damage to the home of John Drury, 1189 Goldstream.

Langford volunteer firemen, on the scene for more than three hours after the fire broke out just before midnight, succeeded in saving the furniture.

The fire apparently started at the back of a faulty fireplace. The flames spread up the kitchen wall into the attic.

FROSTBITE SAILORS LIVE UP TO NAME IN DEEP-FREEZE RACES

Royal Victoria Yacht Club frostbite sailors lived up to their name Sunday as they ran off eight races in Cadboro Bay despite near-freezing temperatures.

Roy and Ruth Murdoch each chalked up two firsts to be the leading husband-wife combination. The third race for men, sailed in Davidsons, won by Harry Gladwell.

Mrs. Murdoch captured both ladies' races, also sailed in Davidsons.

5% Wage Increase For Civic Staffs

City Hall inside and outside employees' unions were granted a 5 per cent wage increase, totaling $50,532 this year, by city council finance committee today.

The increase is expected to be ratified by council as a whole on Thursday.

About 402 employees are affected.

The increase was attained by a revision and adjustment of wage scales and will amount to more for certain categories than for others.

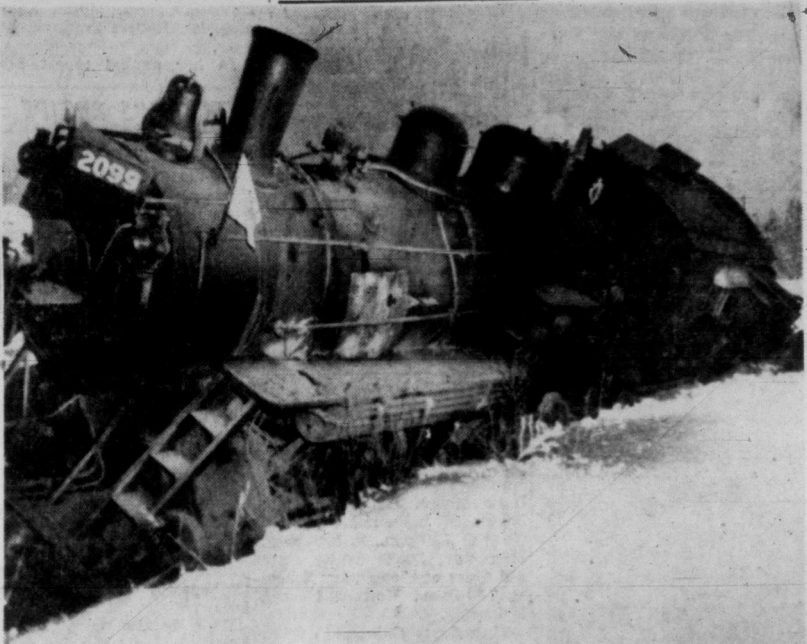

City manager C. C. Wyatt, who has represented the city in recent bargaining meetings, reported the new scale makes the city service competitive from a wage point of view with "other organizations in the city."

He said the adjustments have been found acceptable by the City Hall Employees' Association (inside workers), and the City Hall Protective Association (outside workers), bargaining committees.

The two unions last year signed a two-year contract but asked reopening this year in view of a rise in living costs.

City council still is seeking agreement in negotiations with public health nurses, police and firemen's unions. Police and firemen have asked 15 per cent increases. Total demands made to the city this year reached $237,000.

The city is expected to be responsible for half of the $151,120 in wage boosts granted Greater Victoria teachers last week by district 61 board.

Locomotive Tips, Icy Track Blamed

A CNR locomotive left the rails and half overturned at 6 a.m. today at Trans-Canada Highway and Tillicum Road, ripping up 50 feet of right-of-way.

All crew members of the work train, which was headed for Milnes Landing, escaped without injury.

Engine crewmen were both from Vancouver. K. Lawley was the engineer.

W. A. Abrahamson, CNR assistant road engineer for Vancouver Island, expected the single track line to be cleared by tonight.

A snow and ice-plugged level crossing is believed to have caused the derailment as the train proceeded slowly over Tillicum, tender, engine and a second tender leading the train.

The engine was travelling in reverse with a small crane and caboose making up the balance of the train.

Putting extra weight at the head of the train, by coupling the loaded tenders at each end of the locomotive, was done in an effort to clear plugged crossings.

A similar accident occurred two years ago not far from Tillicum Road, but the locomotive did not tip.

Leading tender, loaded with water and fuel oil, was jolted off its wheel trucks and with the locomotive plowed up about 30 feet of muddy soil before coming to rest.

140 TONS

Total weight of locomotive and tenders was estimated at 140 tons, accounting for the damage to rails and ties and the depth to which locomotive and first tender plowed into the ground.

Mr. Abrahamson said a "shoe-fly" track will be constructed around the derailment for a distance of about 250 feet in order to restore service.

It was planned to cut the tenders from the locomotive with 'acetylene torches, then right them with bulldozers, and pull them from the ripped up wreckage with another locomotive.

Delay in cutting the heavy steel was necessary because of the heat of fuel oil which spilled from engine and leading tender, creating a fire hazard until cooled off.

New SPCA Inspector Appointed

Appointment of Clifford Ladd as inspector for the Victoria branch, Society of Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, was announced today by SPCA president William Leach.

Mr. Ladd will succeed Cyril McRoberts, who was given notice Friday, effective Feb. 1.

Mr. Ladd has been with the SPCA in Vancouver for the past year, driving the small animal ambulance.

"We are fortunate to get a trained man," Mr. Leach said.

He said the change in inspectors follows a difference of opinion between Mr. McRoberts and the SPCA executive on the matter of taking over operation of pound duties in Esquimalt by the society.

COULDN'T AGREE

"Mr. McRoberts is a man of principle, and he couldn't agree with the executive, which was unanimously in favor of the agreement with Esquimalt," said Mr. Leach.

He explained that the reeve of Esquimalt approached the Victoria branch about eight months ago.

"Esquimalt has no pound at present," said Mr. Leach. "After extensive negotiations it was agreed last week that the SPCA would assume the pound duties of this municipality only, using the present facilities at the small animal shelter, 111 Wilson."

"The B.C. SPCA now operates pounds at Nanaimo, North Vancouver district, West Vancouver, Surrey and Richmond. Also, in many of the larger cities in eastern Canada and the U.S.A. the pounds are operated by the humane societies."

CONFIDENT

"Based on the experience of other SPCA branches, we are confident the Victoria branch can conduct a humane, efficient pound in Esquimalt."

"We already have plans and estimates for extra kennel accommodation. We also have considered the purchase of an extra ambulance and hiring an additional man. For the present, the committee was of the opinion we should commence this new operation with our present facilities."

Mr. Leach added the committee had given considerable thought to operating pounds for the city of Victoria and possibly other municipalities.

ASK THE TIMES

Q—What royalty does the B.C. government get on natural gas of B.C.? Is it collected at the well heads?—C.B.

A—The B.C. government gets not less than three-quarters of a cent per thousand cubic feet at the well head.

Q—What price is paid for natural gas exported to the U.S. from B.C.?

A—The price has not been fixed as yet.

Q—What is to be the price of natural gas for domestic consumption in Vancouver?

A—At the residential rate the consumer will pay $1 for the first 300 cubic feet; 21 cents a hundred for the next 700; 16 cents a hundred for the next 2,500; 12 cents a hundred for the next 5,500; and 10 cents a hundred for any amount over 9,000 cubic feet in one month.

Bronze Plaque For Tallest Totem

Erection of a cast bronze plaque at the site of the World's Tallest Totem Pole in Beacon Hill Park, rather than an inscribed plate of lighter metal, was recommended to city council today by finance committee.

The decision was reached after a report from the city purchasing agent which indicated any lighter plaque would suffer both from the weather and vandalism.

Robber Given More Time To Repay Bank

Bank robber Leonard Wilson was granted another week in city police court today to try and raise all of the $1,340 he took from the Douglas Street Branch of the Royal Bank of Canada, Jan. 7.

Police recovered about $900 when he was arrested in Seattle Jan. 8, and counsel James Proudfoot said today Wilson is selling his car and borrowing money from friends to make up the difference.

It was the second remand for the 29-year-old Duncan construction worker since he pleaded guilty to the robbery Jan. 10.

Prosecutor Alan Bigelow agreed to today's remand, saying he was "all in favor" of restitution being made.

Baptists Buy Camp Site

Thirteen acres of wooded property north of Schwartz Bay has been purchased by the Baptist Island Association for use as a summer camp.

The property was bought last week for $5,500. Rev. G. R. Easter of First Baptist Church said today.

The camp for adults and children will be opened in July. It will be the first permanent summer campsite on the Island for Baptists.

Death Sentence Appeal Opens

Appeal of Eileen Gordon Buck, under sentence of death Feb. 19 for the strangulation slaying of nine-year-old Mabel Heather Rinderer near Duggan Lake, in the Cariboo, Sept. 8, 1956, opened in B.C. Appeal Court here today.

The appeal is based on the allegation that Mr. Justice Sullivan did not amplify the definition of a "reasonable doubt" sufficiently to the jury.

The accused, a mill worker, was the common-law husband of the dead girl's mother. He was sentenced to death Nov. 22, 1956, in Assize Court at Quesnel.

LETTERS TO DRIVERS

(In this column the Times presents letters from and to drivers about careless, discourteous or reckless infractions of driving rules. When you see one just send in the place, date and time, and what happened.)

TODAY'S BEEFS

On Jan. 16, about 9 a.m., I observed a dark grey Volkswagen travelling west on the old Island Highway in the vicinity of the Morrow Crest Auto Court. This Volkswagen was crowding the back of a light green Austin, who at the next cut-off signalled for a right-hand turn. The Volkswagen veered left nearly in the path of an oncoming car. I followed and caught up to the Volkswagen at the Thetis Lake stop light. The driver was a lady, who had a croaker spaniel on her lap.—F.B.

My pet peeve is older drivers. By this statement I mean all people over 60. I am 45 myself and drive quite a bit. Many times I have seen ailing and incompetent drivers (both men and women) weaving in and out of traffic, making right and left hand turns from the wrong lane. Many women drivers have the mistaken feeling that in order to make a right turn you must first pull-out to the left. This is most confusing when a right turn signal is made. I have often seen this done and many irate citizens have kept their temper just because the offenders are older people. I think Victoria would be a much safer and pleasanter place to drive if everyone over 60 (arbitrary figure) was forced to take a driver's examination every year.—Mrs. M. D. B.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

Victoria city and district branch, Canadian Red Cross Society will be held at Red Cross House, 1046 Fort Street, at 2:30 p.m., Wednesday, Jan. 23.

Election of officers will take place and reports of branch activities will be read.

Judgment has been reserved in County Court here in the case of William J. Rippon, Victoria, asking damages totalling $808 when a tree was allegedly felled across his car by logger Edward Clapham, Happy Valley Road.

Evidence disclosed Mr. Rippon was remodeling a house at Methosin last April 10, his car parked on a private road when a tree came tumbling down and struck the vehicle.

The hearing was before Judge J. B. Clearhue.

Plans for expansion of church facilities will be made at the annual congregational meeting of St. George the Martyr Church, next Monday at 8 p.m.

Parishioners will consider building of a parish house with activity rooms, social room, kitchen and classrooms to alleviate limited accommodation in the church hall.

Licensing of Victoria's 60 pinball machines will cease this month if city council endorses a recommendation of city solicitor T. P. O'Grady received by finance committee today.

Mrs. O'Grady's letter said in view of recent police court convictions of a pinball operator on a gaming charge, all pinball machines in the city "are suspect."

He said further test cases may be expected but in the meantime he recommended "that the automatic vending machine licensing by-law be amended by deleting from it all reference to pinball machines."

Wednesday meeting of the Victoria Prayer and Healing Study Group at Christ Church Cathedral Memorial Hall has been postponed to Feb. 13.

Speaker of the Legislature, Thomas Irwin, will address Social Credit groups of James Bay at a meeting in the Community Hall, corner of Pilot and Dallas, Thursday at 8 p.m.

Social Credit Group No. 72 will meet in the small club room of the YWCA Tuesday at 8 p.m. Election of officers will be held.

Addition of eight rooms to St. Luke's Church parish hall will be considered by parishioners at an annual meeting Monday, Feb. 4.

Seven classrooms and a kitchen would comprise the addition, expected to be built this year at a cost of $30,000.

Annual vestry meeting of Christ Church Cathedral will be held in the Memorial Hall next Monday at 8 p.m.

All Saints' Anglican Church also will hold its annual meeting next Monday at 8.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Sale Days Aren't Confined To Ladies' Shops Only!

By PENNY SAVER

There is a tremendous sale of men's clothing in town! Everything from ties to shoes is selling at prices very much reduced—some down to half price. There are Italian-style T-shirts, regularly priced at $3.95, $4.95 and $5.95, now half that price. Many styles, with collars, two or three button necklines, short or long sleeves or collarless in a comfortable, casual style, are available. Stripes of many colors are the rage, and these shirts feature a wide range of shades. Cotton twill Ivy League shirts with corner and back button-down collars are another good buy. These are of a washable, striped material featuring the muted shades that go so well with all slacks. For the man who loves casual clothes, these shirts, regularly $5.95, and now $3.95.

Ties priced to $2 are now 65 and 95 cents each, and socks that were $2 are 95 cents a pair. Even shoes are being sold at special prices. Regular priced at $17.95, these smart shoes are now $9.95. Cuff links and tie bars get into the act, too, and are selling at half price.

Into kitchen wares in another store, I noticed brightly colored cup hooks that will match your cupboards. These hooks are of one-piece construction so that they won't loosen and fall apart. They're covered with a rubbery substance to soften the surface. They come in pink, red, green, yellow and white, and are sold at five for 15 cents.

What's this? Well, I've found just the thing for these cold winter days. They're old-fashioned, and oh so practical. Can I interest you in some knee warmers? Yes, that's what I said. They're made of a fine wool jersey knit that fits snugly to the leg. The tops can be held up tightly with the garters that hold your nylons. A pair costs $1.35.

Instead of searching around town for the items mentioned here in the column, call me at 2-3131 and I'll tell you where I saw them.

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

About a wedding gift:

My husband and I have received an invitation to a wedding and reception of the daughter of a man who works in the same department as my husband. We have no social connections at all. I have met the man and his wife only once.

Louise and never met the daughter. We are unable to attend either wedding or reception. Under the circumstances should we send a gift?

Louise Davis answers: You should not feel obligated to send a gift under the circumstances, and I wouldn't do it if I were you inasmuch as friendship is not involved. It is too bad to be put on the spot like this.

It would have been better judgment had the bride's parents invited you to the ceremony and not the reception. It would have been better still had they not sent you an invitation at all rather than imply a gift obligation as they did.

I suggest that your husband and co-workers take up a collection and send the bride a gift. That confines it to business rather than social. The enclosure card can list all the names or it can just state "The office staff (or name the department) of such and such a company."

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Many women on the Marathon seek to decrease only one measurement. This girl is making large circles with her leg to decrease her thigh measurement.

Helpful Hints for Women On 8-Week Marathon Plan

Thousands of women already have begun their 8-Week Self-Improvement Marathon and thousands more will be starting soon, to see how much they can improve themselves in eight weeks' time.

I am giving one day each week during this period to help you get the most out of your Marathon instructions. The large majority of women who join Marathon wish to lose weight, many of them as much as 20 pounds during this eight weeks. Others want to decrease only one measurement, or to correct some other defect in beauty.

I already have given you directions on how to plan your reducing diet. I suggest that you keep your calorie intake between 1,200 and 1,400 a day. However, remember that the number of calories a person needs is dependent on many factors such as build and height, age and physical activity.

Many women feel they are undernourished if they are thin and well nourished if they are fat. Just the opposite is often true. The fact that you are overweight even though you work hard about the house indicates that you are eating more than you need, and most likely the wrong kinds of food.

Many women tell themselves into obesity with the thought that they must "eat to keep their strength up" because they do a lot of work. Modern reducing diets are full of foods which build health and blood. If you have a lot of work to do you may add some more of the energy foods (carbohydrates).

However, do not forget that you are having more calories than you need if you are gaining weight. In order to lose weight you must cut your calorie intake lower than you normally require.

Twelve hundred calories is about right for most women. Hold it to 1,400 at the most. Eat a well-balanced diet and do not skip a meal, especially not breakfast. Good luck!

If any of you late-comers wish to join the Marathon, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the Marathon Booklet to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

New President Receives a Gift For Six Years Perfect Attendance

At the annual meeting held in a private room at the Empress Hotel last Thursday evening, Mrs. Arthur Cann was installed president of the Lions Auxiliary.

The 22 members present attended the smorgasbord dinner in the hotel prior to the meeting.

Mrs. Laura Chaplin acted as chairman for the evening; Mrs. W. Clifford Rae presented a corsage to the new president and to the immediate past president, Mrs. Ernest H. Emery. Mrs. Rae and Mrs. James Roberts acted as installing officers. Mrs. Emery was presented with a gift to mark completion of her term of office; Mrs. Cann also received a gift in recognition of six years' perfect attendance. Others receiving perfect attendance ribbons were Mrs. Charles Savage, three years; Mrs. David Ewing, two years; Mrs. Emery, Mrs. Lola Cullimore, Mrs. Milton Sharp and Mrs. Robert Freeland, one year.

In her annual report Mrs.

Emery told of two successful projects—a coffee party and a fashion show.

Donations were given during the year, as follows: $50 to the "500" club; $50 towards upkeep for one year of a foster child; $25 to the Unitarian Services of Canada; $25 toward the upkeep of the auxiliary's room at Gorge Road Hospital; $15 for a needy family and $15 to the Pastime Centre.

Other officers installed were: Vice-president, Mrs. Harry R. Paulin; recording secretary, Mrs. Ernest B. Hackett; corresponding, Mrs. Nels M. Foster; treasurer, Mrs. Charles R. Savage; directors for two years, Mrs. George Hinch and Mrs. Bruce Passmore; directors for one year, Mrs. Lola Cullimore and Mrs. R. H. Freeland.

Wedding Guests

From Edmonton to attend the wedding of her son, Const. W. D. Gilchrist, RCMP, to Miss Betty Dolman Saturday evening in St. John's Anglican Church was Mrs. M. Gilchrist. Also here from Edmonton for the occasion was the groom's sister, Miss Grace Gilchrist who was maid of honor. Others from out-of-town included Mrs. E. Coburn and Mr. William Sutherland, both of Nanaimo.

Departmental reports showed expansion, among them being attendance, offerings, visitation and Christian citizenship. $788.62 was sent to headquarters.

The committee on Korean Relief under the leadership of Miss Myra Bradshaw had shipped over a ton of supplies and raised $400 for that cause.

Mrs. W. R. Williams made a presentation to the retiring president, Mrs. Ernest MacGinnis.

In Toronto

BEAUTIFUL CHILDREN . . . BY HOUSEZ

Greater Victoria's future citizens introduced this week include the family of Lt.-Cmdr. J. Buckingham, RCN, and Mrs. Buckingham, shown in Picture No. 1. They are Cynthia Deidre, age seven; Andrea Deborah, four years old; Michelle Caye who is 10, and Eric Peter Brooks, one-and-a-half years. The Buckingham children live at 441 Moresby Road. In picture No. 2 we see Herbert Alan Leason. He is five months old and the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Leason, 1256 Carlisle Road. Rosemary Diana Reid is portrayed in No. 3. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Reid, 2025 Paul's Terrace, Gordon Head. Rosemary is seven months old. (A Victoria Daily Times Feature.)

son, RCMP, and Const. Howard Hall, RCMP, also wearing the red dress uniforms, ushered guests to pews marked with white satin bows centred with white blossoms. White chrysanthemums were placed at the altar for the ceremony during which Frederick Chubb, organist, played traditional wedding music. Soloist was Mrs. Ann Sloan who sang "O Perfect Love."

As the wedding entourage left the church following the wedding, members of the Victoria Girls Drill Team, of which the bride was a member, formed a guard of honor, their white satin uniforms with red and blue accents, adding to the attractive scene.

At Olde England Inn, where a reception was held, Mrs. Dolman, in a turquoise silt of lace and taffeta with black accessories and Mrs. Gilchrist, in a slate blue dress of lace and crepe with navy blue accessories, assisted in receiving the newlyweds' guests. A lace cloth covered the bride's table, where a three-tier cake formed the centerpiece. Silver candlesticks flanked the cake, completing the arrangement. F. A. Robinson proposed the toast to the bride's future happiness.

For her going-away outfit, the bride donned a fitted black English worsted suit with dusky pink hat, gloves and scarf, and black suede shoes and purse. Her muskrat coat was ebony tone.

Const. and Mrs. Gilchrist will make their home in Osoyoos, B.C., after a honeymoon trip in the United States.

From Belfast Ireland

"Dear Annie—
Thanks for the gorgeous box of chocolates which arrived safely and in good condition."

It is very gratifying to know the candy from this shop is enjoyed in faraway places as it is here.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

TUESDAY, JAN. 22, 1957

"The Stars impel... They do not compel!"
What you make of your life is largely up to you."

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—Yielding to desire to throw away carefully built up assets, position for the fascinating, ephemeral world soon find you stranded in strange, unknown and perplexing condition. Be sure instead that you smile, await better time.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—Conflict between home and outside interests can bring strange reaction within yourself that makes you want to run away from everyone. Don't. Keep plugging away doggedly at what has proven satisfactory in days bygone.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—Communications, comments from others, by word of mouth, or writing can make you feel you are on

FATHER'S CAR RUNS OVER TOT—BUT SHE LIVES

DETROIT (AP)—Carol Traumann, 2 1/2, slipped under the back wheel of her father's car Sunday as he backed out of the driveway of their home. The wheel passed over Carol's abdomen but at a nearby hospital, doctors said she wasn't hurt except for a slight cut. Patrolman Richard Chambers said the child's body, protected by heavy winter clothing, sank into the soft snow as the car went over her. Carol's only complaint: "My tummy hurts."

Turkish, Greek Cypriots Clash

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Fifteen persons were injured in a brief fighting between Turkish and Greek Cypriots today. It followed Turkish fire raids on a number of Greek business establishments.

Shots fired by Turkish auxiliary police broke up the fight and restored order under curfew laws governing this capital city. Two Greek Cypriots were wounded slightly by police bullets.

Today's fighting, followed a raid at dawn by 100 young Turks on about a dozen Greek homes, in which they smashed furniture and set fire to bedding in anger over the bomb death of a Turkish policeman Saturday. Stones and bottles were thrown.

Raging fires set Sunday by Turkish Cypriot youths threatened whole blocks of buildings. All available firefighting apparatus, both civilian and military, was called to the city.

The youthful gangs set fire to 11 shops, garages and warehouses owned by Greek Cypriots. After darkness fell, they struck again in a score of places.

One group raided a Greek-owned coffee shop in Nicosia's Turkish quarter, wounding three Greeks. Then fires began erupting.

Church bells rang to summon Greek Cypriots to guard their property and form vigilante bands.

But as they poured into the streets, British authorities imposed a curfew. Police and troops herded the civilians—many in nightclothes—back to their homes.

Even as the curfew was declared, two more big fires broke out in other parts of the city. Violence between Greek and Turk has flared several times since the beginning of the Greek nationalist campaign to drive out the British.

Turkish Cypriots generally have sided with British efforts to put down the revolt.

YOU CAN'T TAKE IT WITH YOU—OR DID HE?

FLORENCE, Italy (Reuters)—The family of stone-mason Gino Rossi applied today for the exhumation of his body because they believed a soccer pool betting coupon which may be worth 19,000,000 lire ($30,600) is buried with him.

Rossi was killed in a road accident last Sunday shortly after handing in his coupon to an agent near Florence.

Later Rossi's son realized that his father may have won the week's top prize.

But the section of the coupon which is retained by the bettor and must be produced before the prize is collected cannot be found.

"This organization feels the board of school trustees is doing the job well," he stated.

Mr. Striha said the building plans have been checked and approved by the department of education, which is responsible for 50 per cent of the expenditure.

Two Days of Terror End As U.K. Maniacs Retaken

NOTTINGHAM, Eng. (AP)—Two escaped criminal lunatics, who terrorized the countryside for two days, were recaptured today as they made into nearby Newark on a stolen motorcycle armed with a sawed-off shotgun.

A policeman spotted the two convicts and, helped by a gathering crowd of spectators, pushed the men off their machine. They made no attempt to use the shotgun and were handcuffed and taken to police headquarters.

The convicts, big powerful Frank Ellis and scar-faced Richard Maskill, broke out of the Rampton mental institution late Friday night with keys they had fashioned themselves. Twice Sunday they broke into houses and held the terrified families prisoner for hours while they helped themselves to food and listened to broadcasts about their escape. They attacked a man in the first house, hitting him on the head with an iron bar and later breaking three of his fingers. But no one else was touched. Busloads of police had swarmed in from other areas to join a posse of constables and tracker dogs in combing the lonely countryside for the men. Spotter planes swarmed over the area feeding information by radio to the search parties on the ground. Police had described the escaped convicts as dangerous men with tendencies to violence, and there had been little sound sleep throughout this area during the last two nights.

Corporation of the Township of Esquimalt LICENSING AND REGULATION OF DOGS

NOTICE is hereby given that the Municipal Council has entered into an agreement under which the Victoria Branch of the British Columbia Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has been appointed to perform the duties of Poundkeeper under the Dog Licence and Regulation By-law, and generally to do all things and perform all duties required by the said By-law.

Amongst other things the said By-law requires that:

- All dogs over the age of four months within the Municipality shall be licensed, the fee being $3.00 for males and spayed females and $5.00 for unspayed females.
- The owner of every licensed dog shall keep on such dog a collar to which shall be attached the metal tag issued with the license therefor.
- No dog shall be permitted to be at large within the Municipality unless accompanied by and under the effective control of a responsible person—the words "at large" being defined as being elsewhere than on the premises of the owner.
- All unlicensed dogs and licensed dogs found at large unaccompanied shall be impounded and released only on payment of an impounding fee of $2.00 and a board fee of $1.00 per day in addition to licence fees if unlicensed.

All inquiries regarding missing, stray and impounded dogs should be made to the S.P.C.A. Shelter, 111 Wilkes Street, Victoria, telephone No. 3-8114.

Dog licences for 1957 are now due and may be obtained on personal application at the Esquimalt Municipal Hall, Esquimalt, B.C. January 19, 1957.

Drug-Scandal Death Trial Opens in Venice

VENICE, Italy (Reuters)—Three wealthy Romans went on trial today for being implicated in the death of beautiful Wilma Montesi, which nearly four years ago touched off one of Italy's biggest postwar political scandals.

Miss Montesi's semi-nude body was found on a scrub-spotted Roman beach.

Police at first said the statuesque, raven-haired carpenter's daughter had drowned, accidentally.

But Roman journalist Silvano Muto insisted there was more to the story. He wrote about secluded drug orgies, in which some of Rome's more prominent citizens participated.

Accusations were made against Piero Picconi, 36-year-old son of the then-foreign minister, Attilio Picconi, now adviser to the Italian UN delegation; the Marquis Ugo Montagna, 46-year-old wealthy real estate broker; and Saverio Polito, Rome's 77-year-old police chief.

FORMALLY CHARGED

Picconi is charged with manslaughter "for having, on the night of April 10, 1953, caused the death by drowning of Wilma Montesi, abandoning her while still alive, though he believed her already dead, on the beach at Torvaianica."

Montagna and Polito are charged with being accessories.

City Alerted For New Snow

Victorians were warned today by weatherman William Mackie to be on their guard for a "sneak punch."

His warning came as conditions in the city and district returned to near normal and residents and public works crews dug themselves out from under the worst snowfall of the winter — nine inches Saturday and early Sunday.

ALASKA IS KEY

"Pressures in the gulf are neither rising nor falling," he said. "There is no sign of anything happening there now, but past experience has taught us to be highly suspicious of this kind of situation and on our guard. If a storm should develop it would hit here very quickly with more snow."

He said there would be flurries today, and a light snow actually fell at noon, but he said it was "insignificant."

His forecast calls for continuing cold weather, with variable cloudiness tonight and mixed cloud and sunshine Tuesday.

Temperatures will range between 25 degrees tonight and 35 degrees Tuesday.

B.C. Electric buses reported service on its many routes being mainly on time, with isolated delays. Vancouver Island Coach Lines runs were reported as anything from "on time" to 20 minutes late.

10% Increase In Taxi Fares Due in February

A 10 per cent increase in taxi fares in Greater Victoria was approved today by city council finance committee.

The boost will go into effect in February if council approves the move on Thursday.

WEATHERMAN WRONG —BY ONE DEGREE

Critical temperatures were the villains that caused snow Saturday instead of the mixed snow and rain, and subsequently rain, predicted by weatherman William Mackie.

The snow confined itself to the Greater Victoria area, giving only two or three inches at Seattle, Nanaimo and Comox, and none at Vancouver.

"The temperature Saturday was 35 degrees," Mr. Mackie said. "That is about as high as it can be and still give precipitation as snow."

"Conditions indicated the temperatures would rise the one degree necessary to tip the scales, but instead they stayed right there," he said.

"It was one of those cases where it took only one degree to make a liar of the weatherman," he said ruefully. Victoria's location makes forecasting extremely difficult. Being on the coast, where cold mainland air and moist Pacific air meet, it constantly finds itself in the thick of the fight, which can move only 10 miles either way to give an altogether different weather picture.

'RARELY HAS EARTH KNOWN SUCH PERIL'

Invites Friendship Of Russ Citizens

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, in a solemnly-worded inaugural address, today warned that "rarely has this earth known such peril."

He dedicated his second four-year term to countering that danger with strength at home and help for all nations struggling to be free.

Eisenhower expressed friendship for the people—but not the government—of Russia.

Massed thousands, on the steps of the capitol and standing on the wet grounds in front, listened in hushed silence.

His address followed the public ceremony in which he took the oath of office for a second time.

Sunday morning, on the constitutional date for his inauguration, private rites were held in the White House for Eisenhower and vice-president Nixon.

His words were broadcast and telecast to millions. The Voice of America planned broadcasts in many foreign languages.

The president, Nixon, their wives and congressional leaders, drew thunderous cheers as they drove from the White House up the hill to the capitol.

Chief Justice Earl Warren administered the oath to Eisenhower after Senator William Knowland (Rep.-Calif.) had sworn in Nixon.

'Peace Only Climate Possible'

Eisenhower's inaugural address was couched in almost a religious quality, the language of a man looking beyond the borders of his own country and his own time.

He accused "international communism and the power it controls" of casting a pall of fear over the world, and setting nation against nation.

The United States, Eisenhower said, seeks peace.

"We have been warned, by the power of modern weapons, that peace may be the only climate possible for human life itself."

In slow, emphatic cadences, the president told Americans coast to coast: "We live in a land of plenty, but rarely has this earth known such peril as today."

Yet, for all its power and cunning, Eisenhower said:

"International communism has itself been shaken by a fierce and mighty force: The ready-ness of men who love freedom to pledge their lives to that love."

He cited events in Hungary. "Budapest is no longer merely the name of a city; it is a new and shining symbol of man's yearning to be free."

Even the Russian people were included in Eisenhower's all-embracing statements.

"We honor, no less in this divided world than in a less tormented time, the people of Russia," he said.

"We do not dread, rather do we welcome, their progress in education and industry."

"For as such things may come to pass, more certain will be the coming of the day when our peoples may freely meet in friendship."

At 66, Eisenhower is the second-oldest president to take the oath. In 1960, he would be the oldest man ever to occupy the White House.

'MY NERVES ARE SHOT'

Sawchuk Tells Why He Quit NHL Bruins

DETROIT (AP)—Terry Sawchuk told a press conference today he quit the Boston Bruins because "my nerves are shot," but he left the door open for a possible return to National Hockey League action within a month.

The Boston goaltender read his statement in front of a battery of reporters, photographers and television cameramen to clear up his abrupt retirement last Tuesday at the peak of a brilliant career.

Sawchuk, 27, said he believes his nerve condition was brought about by an attack of mononucleosis, a blood disease. He was stricken several weeks ago and spent 12 days in a Boston hospital, missing seven games.

"I couldn't sleep, I lost my appetite and my nerves were just shot," he said.

"This has been the toughest decision of my life," he added.

Sawchuk said he had informed Bruin coach Milt Schmidt that he would consult with the Boston club "in about a month on my future with the Bruins."

Sawchuk said he was under the care of a physician here.

"I had many moments when I wasn't sure I could finish a game," he said.

In December when the disease was first diagnosed, Sawchuk said, a specialist recommended he take at least a month's rest.

Four-Year Old Raped, Killed

Police Seek Pimply-Faced Youth For Brutal Slaying in Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—Police of suburban North York said today they picked up a youth aged about 18 for questioning in the slaying of four-year-old Carole Voyce. They described him as resembling the boy sought in the case.

The little girl's body, raped, mutilated and beaten, was found Saturday night under a viaduct in east-central Toronto.

A doctor who examined the body said it was the most brutal slaying here in the last 20 years.

Police said the only lead they had was the report of Carole's four-year-old playmate who told them she left the street in front of her home with a youth riding a red and green bicycle.

They said she was driven to the viaduct, on Bloor Street just west of Broadview Avenue, raped and killed.

They had uncovered no new information by late this morning.

Carole died, an autopsy showed, at about 4 p.m. Saturday. The immediate cause of death was a massive hemorrhage brought on when her liver was ruptured, probably by someone who knelt on her three-foot, 30-pound body.

She had been struck over the head with a blunt instrument and mutilated with an eight-inch twig.

Dr. Smirle Lawson, supervising coroner for Ontario, said: "Of all the murders I've seen in 20 years, this is certainly the most brutal."

A $5,000 reward was posted for the slayer's capture and conviction and all metropolitan police had their weekend leaves cancelled.

After listening to the story told by her four-year-old playmate, police said the killing might be linked with that of nine-year-old Gary Morris.

Gary's body was found suffocated at east-end Cherry Beach last summer. His liver had been ruptured. He too was last seen being driven away on the handle-bars of a boy's bicycle.

Parts of the missing plane were found in the river Sunday. Wreckage of the other jet was found near the Pacific Great Eastern Railroad track shortly after the crash, eight days ago.

Two injured men from one of the planes were returned to Vancouver last week.

Missing and presumed dead are Ftl. Lt. Burton Patkau and FO Roderick Atkins, both of Vancouver.

On Channel 12

Victoria's most baffling week-end television mystery of the year, entitled "Whatever Happened to Channel 12?" was solved today.

WEATHER

Main streets of Victoria were sprinkled with rock salt as the snow fell Saturday and as a result the surface now is much the same as water treated with anti-freeze.

He said if the city had still been using sand it would have been impossible to begin work until the snow stopped falling, as later snow covers its non-skid abrasive qualities.

Extra crews are working today cleaning crosswalks, and snow which had been pushed into the centre of the streets will be picked up and carried away as soon as possible.

No streets have been closed by his order for sleigh riding.

The engineer said he does not anticipate flooding as the nine inches of snow represents less than one inch of rain.

The use of salt instead of sand, which can clog storm drains, is also a feature which reduces the chance of flooding.

City crews worked late Saturday and all day Sunday to have the streets ready for traffic Monday.

ROADS PASSABLE

Highways department crews in the district went to work Saturday afternoon with all available men and equipment, and have worked constantly on shifts. Except for a delay on the Malahat Saturday evening, traffic was kept moving, and all roads today were reported as "passable."

Sunday saw hundreds of youngsters sleighing on available hills, and some skiers were seen.

In some instances cars towed sleighs, and one young woman was seen skating on the hard-packed surface of Blenkinsop Road.

Brilliant sunshine made the clearing of sidewalks a little easier to bear, and thousands had the opportunity of seeing Port Angeles and the Olympic Mountains "close enough to touch." Others noted the beauty of trees, transformed by the snow from gaunt skeletons to studies in Valenciennes lace.

FOG HEAVY

Trouble for motorists, however, struck Sunday night from another direction.

Heavy fog settled over the suburban area late Sunday afternoon, catching many home-bound motorists off guard.

Visibility was reduced to 15 feet in some places, and many drivers were completely baffled at intersections.

One car proceeding south on the Trans-Canada Highway ran into a snowbank instead of the turn on to Douglas, and others were left at odd angles in snowbanks at the Fountain Circle.

opened to Channel 12?" was solved today.

Saturday night at 10.30 the popular Bellingham television station boosted its power from 34,000 watts to a whopping 225,000 watts.

Long one of the city's best received stations, citizens feared that the added power would harm reception from Tacoma's Channel 11.

First reports indicated that it didn't, at least to any marked degree.

But something else happened they hadn't bargained for.

Sunday they were dumbfounded to discover that they couldn't pickup 12 more than faintly. It was as though the giant had worn itself out in one frenzied show of strength, then faded to a ghost.

Some local technicians today were inundated with angry cries for help as citizens thought they had lost the channel for all time.

David Mintz, general manager of KVOS-TV, however, said that Channel 12's fading was of a temporary nature and explained it this way:

In an all-out effort to meet the Saturday night high-power deadline ceremony, engineers and technicians battled icy winds and swirling snows atop Ogish Island's half-mile Mt. Constitution last week. But the weather was so bad it was possible to rig only a temporary antenna.

Therefore, once the power-boost show was over, the station transmitted from a temporary small antenna to allow workmen to convert the jury-rigged affair into a permanent installation.

CLEAR SOON

Mr. Mintz thought Victorians would be able to receive the channel in its old black-and-white brilliance by Tuesday noon at the earliest, and by Wednesday or Thursday at the latest.

High winds were still a threat this morning atop Mt. Constitution, he said.

Peculiarly, however, weekend weather wrought other changes in TV viewing.

Channel 13, for instance, received well by no more than about 5 per cent of the city's TV set owners, was reported coming in clearly in most sections of Greater Victoria.

One technician put forth the interesting theory that heavy snows atop the mountain peaks between here and 13's Tacoma-Seattle transmitter site, were responsible. While others thought 13 owed its good reception to the fact that Channel 12 had been reduced temporarily to low power.

CHRISTIAN GEORGE HANNA

5 Women Propose
To Stateless Man

VANCOUVER (CP)—Several girls have offered to marry a stateless and lonely stowaway if that will save him from being deported, his counsel said Sunday night.

John Taylor, one of two lawyers fighting a deportation order issued last Friday against Christian Hanna, 23, said the girls "seem to be running a competition."

At least five have offered to become engaged to Hanna, he added, though they have never seen him except in newspaper pictures. One planned to make application today for his admission as her fiancé.

Hanna, who has no passport or citizenship papers, spent the weekend in custody in the immigration building here awaiting hearing of his appeal by a three-man board today.

He left from the Norwegian freighter Gudveig at Port Alberni, B.C., Thursday after being aboard 15 months. At least six countries denied him permission to land after he stowed away at Beirut, Lebanon.

He was led off the freighter by Donald White, 26-year-old Vancouver lawyer who had obtained a court order on his behalf. Mr. White later applied unsuccessfully for a writ of habeas corpus, and a one-man board of inquiry ruled that Hanna would have to return to the Gudveig, scheduled to leave Port Alberni late today.

Mr. Taylor said Immigration Minister Pickersgill has been allowing fiancés of Canadian citizens to enter the country "from almost everywhere in the world."

Mr. Taylor said "all kinds" of job offers for Hanna have been received.

Esquimalt to Get Full Explanation Of Coat-of-Arms

Historical significance of Esquimalt's colorful coat-of-arms will be explained by its designer, Alan Beddoe, Ottawa, at an unveiling ceremony in Esquimalt High School Wednesday.

The public ceremony will begin at 7.30 p.m., with a half-hour concert by HMCS Naden Band.

Leutenant-Governor Frank Ross will unveil the coat-of-arms, which will be dedicated by Rev. J. A. Roberts, rector of St. Paul's Church.

Judgment Reserved In Suit Over Mill-End Contract

Judgment was reserved by Mr. Justice Wilson in Supreme Court Friday in the case of Mahinder Singh asking damages from Acme Sawmills Ltd. for breach of contract.

Mahinder Singh had contracted with the company to take mill-end for two years, which was sold as stove wood in Victoria. Last August, before the contract expiry date, Acme refused to sell Mahinder Singh any more wood.

The company defended on the grounds it was mutually agreed that the contract be terminated, but Mr. Justice Wilson held there was no termination by mutual consent.

Defendants were Sardara Singh and Magur Singh. Appearing for the plaintiff was George Gregory and for the defence, W. B. Monteith.

REMEMBER:—

In laundry and dry-cleaning, as in everything else in life, you receive in value exactly what you pay for.

For three generations the name NEW METHOD has signified to the people of Victoria all that is most reliable in laundry and dry-cleaning service.

Locally owned and managed during all these years NEW METHOD offers its customers these outstanding advantages:

1. 60 years of accumulated skill and know-how in the cleaning of all kinds of fabrics.
2. The largest trained staff of its kind on Vancouver Island working happily under trade union conditions of employment.
3. One of the most modern plants anywhere in Canada.
4. Exclusive use in Victoria of the coveted SANITONE franchise, a dry-cleaning system licensed only to the top quality cleaners in each city on the continent.
5. A policy of integrity towards customers that guarantees their absolute satisfaction.

For these reasons over 5,000 Victoria families trust their precious clothes and household fabrics each week ONLY TO NEW METHOD.

They have discovered for themselves the peace-of-mind that comes from dealing only with a reliable cleaner.

May we bring this fine service to you, too?

For instant attention phone 4-8166 any time of the day or night

NEW METHOD

A Cleaning Service You Can Trust Completely

NOW... your choice
LIQUID OR DRY

says Mrs. North

"... by using Javex for kitchen and bathroom cleaning as well as in the laundry. I save work, too! For just an easy wipe-over with Javex makes porcelain surfaces shining-clean; and a little Javex in the toilet bowl works wonders."

Most women know at least 20 ways Javex saves work and cuts the cost of cleaning products.

Javex 5-IN-1 Action!

Yes! Liquid or dry—whichever you buy—there's nothing else like Javex!

What other single cleaning product does so many jobs

...and yet costs so little?

There's nothing else like Javex. A wonder-worker in your laundry, Javex also keeps porcelains jewel-bright without scratching... whitens and deodorizes toilet bowls... disinfects drains and does a dozen other labor-saving chores easily, quickly, thoroughly.

Buy your Javex in threes

By buying 3 Javex at a time and keeping one always handy in the kitchen, laundry and bathroom, you'll save countless steps every day. And in either form, Javex is equally efficient; whichever you use is purely a matter of your own preference.

Margaret

LET'S call her Margaret. I'm sure you've seen her—slim, trim, efficient, with just a thread of grey in her well-kept hair.

She has two children and a husband and a home to look after, and yet she's working in city store or office, or school or hospital. She has her own pay cheque. She has her job quite separate from her family. And yet she has her natural maternal instincts, and, from centuries of training, she knows her primary task is in the home.

I am very interested in the "Margarets" of this continent. They're such a distinctive feature of this modern age, and especially of North America where the technological civilization of the West is more advanced than in most other countries.

I'd like to learn the ages of Margaret's children, and why she's working at a job outside her home. Is it because she's bored by housework and raising children? Is it because the little modern home with all its labor-saving gadgets doesn't leave her enough work to keep her happy?

Is it because she held a professional job before her marriage and found the loneliness of stay-at-home more than she could take? Or does she feel that she has specialized knowledge which she must make use of and not let go to waste? (I know several women with college degrees for whom this is definitely the reason.)

Or—and I suspect this is usually the truth—is her husband's salary not enough to maintain the very high standard of living on this continent?

How does Margaret spend her pay cheque? Does it go for payments on house or car or television or washer or deep freeze, etc.?

Does she spend it on cultural advantages for the children; on partial support for elderly parents whose pensions or annuities have been so reduced by rising prices?

What does Margaret do if small children are sick and cannot go to school? How does she manage in the school vacations? If she has domestic help, is what she earns worth the effort after she has paid out wages for someone else to do her work in the home?

If Margaret doesn't have domestic help, then how does she ever manage the washings, the mending, the letters and all the odd chores that form an inescapable part of family life?

Does Margaret's husband dislike the thought of his wife working outside the home? Or is he thankful to have a second wage earner in the family?

What would Margaret's grandmother think if she came back and saw the modern setup? (We hear a lot about how hard Grandma worked without any of our modern equipment. But I'm beginning to think that Margaret works just as hard as Grandma ever did. Only in a different kind of way.)

What effect has Margaret's separate pay cheque had upon the marriage pattern of this continent? Does it mean earlier marriages? Is it one of the reasons why many marriages break up nowadays? Didn't many of the last century's marriages last simply because the woman had no way of supporting herself if she went flouncing off?

What effect have all the working Margarets had upon men's attitude to women? Is it logical to expect chivalry of any kind from men when both sexes are competing for the same jobs?

When you consider how the position of women has changed in the last 100 years, what is likely to happen in the century to come?

Will more and more women go out to work until the woman who stays home becomes a freak and an exception?

If so, what happens to the children? Someone has to look after them. Or will they be popped into state creches even before they can crawl?

Will the homes of the future be empty all the day, and silent except for automatic machines clicking on and off?

Did the people who fought for women's rights to equal education, equal pay and job opportunities ever visualize what the results of their struggles would be?

I don't know the answers to any of these questions, but when I consider the modern Margaret, I often wonder about the shape of things to come.

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

Bootees From Victoria

LONDON—I sit here at my desk looking out on a cold, bleak day—one of the batch of them which we have been having lately.

I have been through my mail. This included from my mother a postal order for each of the youngsters. This happens at their birthdays and each Christmas and has prompted Robin this year to inquire: "Is your mother a millionaire?"

Also among my mail, as is invariably the case, were letters from readers. These are always interesting. Today's Canadian mail included a letter from a woman reader in Brockville who asked whether we would like her to come over and be our housekeeper.

A reader who lives on Toronto's Dowling Avenue wants to know whether I'd like to take over a house he owns in Dorset. And Mrs. A. N. Lambert of Victoria, B.C., has sent half a dozen pairs of bootees for the forthcoming event, which was thoughtful of her.

So now I settle down to do a column, and I must confess to you that over the past weeks I have been in somewhat of a dilemma about this.

There is no doubt about the fact that since the last war the English have never been as worried and perturbed as they are now. The whole business of the Middle East and the possible wider repercussions hang over them like a pall. It permeates everything they do and think.

This sets rather a problem for a writer. For a creative writer, of course, it calls for some real soul searching—just as it does for anyone in a creative field such as painting pictures, producing plays, composing music.

As he tries to get on with his work he asks himself: "What is the point of this little thing I am working on, in the face of the prospect of the world being plunged into war?" And, according to the type of person he is, he either shelves whatever it is he is trying to create or sets himself up in an ivory tower and carries on.

But for a writer of any sort, whether creative or not, the problem is here. Caught up in what is preoccupying all minds around him, he finds himself wanting to do nothing but write about it.

However, I have to remember that to tell you each day that the English are disturbed and fearful of war is to tell you something which you already know. Day after day over recent weeks headlines and news stories in your papers have been bringing home to you the situation here and in the rest of Europe. Newscasts on your radio, and TV sets reiterate it.

Therefore I should tell you of the aspects of everyday life carrying on here normally. If I did not, you would get from the daily news stories a somewhat distorted picture of life here at present. Amid intangibles such as the fear of war and tangible things such as the rationing of petrol, there are day-by-day goings-on here which you would like to hear about. I must just shed this current preoccupation with world affairs and tell you about them.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

Sunshine, 1957 ..... 57.3 hrs.
Last year ..... 41.5 hrs.
Last year ..... 2.15 ins.

SYNOPSIS—The return of clear skies brought exceedingly cold weather to all parts of the province overnight. The Cariboo region took overnight lows of about 35 degrees below zero. However, Penticton dropped to 7 degrees below zero for a new low for this year. Patricia Bay recorded a temperature of 15 degrees to equal its low for the year set December last.

There is still no indication of any change in the present pattern. However, a few sections have had patchy cloud cover and this will remain variable for the next 36 hours. In general, however, skies will be clear and the cold will remain.

DOMINION PUBLIC WEATHER OFFICE

ACROSS B.C.

Vancouver Man Badly Hurt As Home Burns

(FROM CP DISPATCHES)

VANCOUVER—Jim Doughty, 33, suffered severe burns Sunday night when he attempted to retrieve a television set from his burning home here.

The four-room house and its contents were destroyed. Also feared lost was $500 in cash which Doughty had borrowed to repair the home.

An explosion in a wood and coal stove was blamed for the fire.

Neighbors said Doughty dashed into the house when it went up in flames in an attempt to save a television set. He was taken to Vancouver General Hospital suffering from severe hand and face burns.

DEPUTY CHIEF DIES

NEW WESTMINSTER—John Edward Allen, deputy chief of the New Westminster police force for 13 years, died Sunday. He had been associated with the New Westminster force for almost 30 years. Death was due to cancer of the throat.

WATER SERVICE RESTORED

KINNAIRD—Water service was resumed here after residents' taps had been dry for 12 hours, following a break in the village's main water line. The break was caused when an obsolete float system in the village water tank froze, causing the tank to overflow.

2-CAR CRASH INJURES 3

KELOWNA—Three Okanagan Mission people were taken to hospital here Sunday afternoon following a head-on collision between two cars five miles south of Kelowna.

They are Peter Barclay, Mrs. Herb Hunt and Miss Carmen Comer. Barclay suffered rib fractures, two fractured knee caps and lacerations, while Miss Comer escaped with a black eye. Mrs. Hunt's injuries were not immediately known.

BOAT THIEF SENTENCED

WEST VANCOUVER (CP)—Wilfred Ernest Coull, 31, of Victoria, was sentenced Saturday to penitentiary terms totalling 6½ years after pleading guilty to four charges involving theft of a boat here and articles from other boats.

Magistrate Gordon Robson ordered the sentences to be served concurrently with a number of other sentences imposed last week for theft in Port Alberni and Sidney.

Saturday's charges included theft of a $3,500 cabin cruiser owned by Vernon Tryson of Vancouver. It was stolen from Fisherman's Cove here between Dec. 29 and Jan. 1 and found wrecked at Cafe Beale, near Bamfield, on the west coast of Vancouver Island.

Tory Organization in Province Receives Diefenbaker's Okay

VANCOUVER (CP)—National Progressive Conservative leader John Diefenbaker has put his seal of approval on an organizational committee of the B.C. Federal Council as the instrument to lead the party's campaign in British Columbia.

The announcement Sunday by Leon Ladner, chairman of the council, ended speculation as to whether Diefenbaker might dissolve the council.

Mr. Ladner denied a report that he had been appointed "a special representative" of Diefenbaker.

News of Mr. Diefenbaker's decision was given to the federal council at a meeting here Saturday.

Mr. Ladner explained: "In Mr. Diefenbaker's communication with me he urged that the special organizational committee of the B.C. federal council of the Progressive Conservative party of Canada, appointed some weeks ago, should be completed as soon as possible to be ready for the general election expected next June."

"We should find candidates in each federal constituency right away."

Chairman of the Capital Improvement District Commission, R. A. Pennington, speaks on "Terms of Reference"; Deputy Minister of Municipal Affairs J. E. Brown speaks on the general subject of "Projects," and Deputy Public Works Minister Clive Campbell speaks on planning of government buildings.

Three top-level speakers on community planning will comprise a panel Thursday at 8 p.m. at 904 Government Street, under auspices of the local branch, Community Planning Association of Canada.

Mr. Ladner said: "So far as I am aware, Mr. Diefenbaker did not refer to a personal representative of his... and I do not believe any will be appointed."

He said the organizational committee will invite into membership B.C.'s three Progressive Conservative MP's and federal and provincial leaders of the party in B.C., as well as several "prominent Conservatives" who hold no official position as yet.

TIMES CARRIERS THANK READERS FOR PATIENCE

The Times today joins its delivery boys in expressing appreciation to its readers for their patience over delays in delivery during Saturday's snowstorm, particularly in the country areas. Almost impassable hills delayed vehicles going into the Sooke and Jordan River districts until very late in the evening. Up-Island points were reached at even later hours. Carrier boys, who did a yeoman job during the storm, will do their best to see the paper is delivered as early as possible during the bad weather.

Colwood Home Razed By Fire; No Insurance

A young couple lost all their possessions Sunday night in a fire which demolished a two-room dwelling in Colwood. No one was in the house at the time the fire broke out, about 6 p.m.

Mrs. Clinton Wilson and her young baby were visiting at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. G. R. Wishart, on the same property. Mr. Wilson was working in the interior.

The house, valued at about $2,000, was owned by Mrs. Wishart. It is situated on a large farm property on Wishart Road, not far from the junction of Sooke and Metchosin Roads.

Cause of the blaze has not been determined, but it is believed it may have started from a wood and coal heater.

Colwood volunteer fire department reached the house from the station about a mile away but was unable to check the flames which were coming through the roof.

Inside, the couple lost clothing and all their furnishings, including a living room suite, television set and refrigerator.

NO INSURANCE

Value of the furnishings was estimated at $1,500. Neither the house nor contents were insured.

Mr. Wilson, a sheet-metal worker, was in Grand Forks and returned today. The couple intended to move to the interior town in a week.

Another fire in an outlying district Saturday night caused about $2,000 damage to the home of John Drury, 1189 Goldstream.

Langford volunteer firemen, on the scene for more than three hours after the fire broke out just before midnight, succeeded in saving the furniture.

The fire apparently started at the back of a faulty fireplace. The flames spread up the kitchen wall into the attic.

FROSTBITE SAILORS LIVE UP TO NAME IN DEEP-FREEZE RACES

Royal Victoria Yacht Club frostbite sailors lived up to their name Sunday as they ran off eight races in Cadboro Bay despite near-freezing temperatures.

Roy and Ruth Murdoch each chalked up two firsts to be the leading husband-wife combination. The third race for men, sailed in Davidsons, won by Harry Gladwell.

Mrs. Murdoch captured both ladies' races, also sailed in Davidsons.

5% Wage Increase For Civic Staffs

City Hall inside and outside employees' unions were granted a 5 per cent wage increase, totaling $50,532 this year, by city council finance committee today.

The increase is expected to be ratified by council as a whole on Thursday.

About 402 employees are affected.

The increase was attained by a revision and adjustment of wage scales and will amount to more for certain categories than for others.

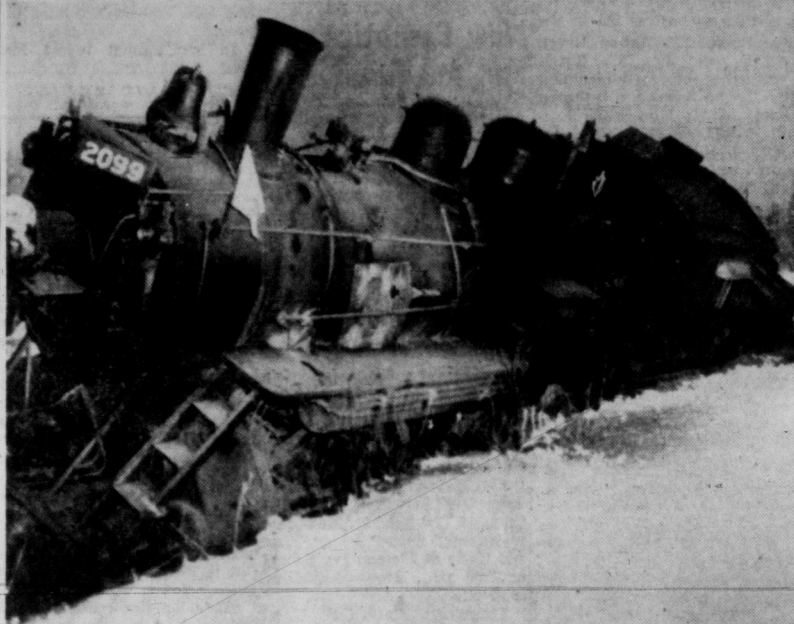

City manager C. C. Wyatt, who has represented the city in recent bargaining meetings, reported the new scale makes the city service competitive from a wage point of view with "other organizations in the city."

He said the adjustments have been found acceptable by the City Hall Employees' Association (inside workers), and the City Hall Protective Association (outside workers), bargaining committees.

The two unions last year signed a two-year contract but asked reopening this year in view of a rise in living costs.

City council still is seeking agreement in negotiations with public health nurses, police and firemen's unions. Police and firemen have asked 15 per cent increases. Total demands made to the city this year reached $237,000.

The city is expected to be responsible for half of the $151,120 in wage boosts granted Greater Victoria teachers last week by district 61 board.

Locomotive Tips, Icy Track Blamed

A CNR locomotive left the rails and half overturned at 6 a.m. today at Trans-Canada Highway and Tillicum Road, ripping up 50 feet of right-of-way.

All crew members of the work train, which was headed for Milnes Landing, escaped without injury.

Engine crewmen were both from Vancouver. K. Lawley was the engineer.

W. A. Abrahamson, CNR assistant road engineer for Vancouver Island, expected the single track line to be cleared by tonight.

A snow and ice-plugged level crossing is believed to have caused the derailment as the train proceeded slowly over Tillicum, tender, engine and a second tender leading the train.

The engine was travelling in reverse with a small crane and caboose making up the balance of the train.

Putting extra weight at the head of the train, by coupling the loaded tenders at each end of the locomotive, was done in an effort to clear plugged crossings.

A similar accident occurred two years ago not far from Tillicum Road, but the locomotive did not tip.

Leading tender, loaded with water and fuel oil, was jolted off its wheels trucks and with the locomotive plowed up about 30 feet of muddy soil before coming to rest.

140 TONS

Total weight of locomotive and tenders was estimated at 140 tons, accounting for the damage to rails and ties and the depth to which locomotive and first tender plowed into the ground.

Mr. Abrahamson said a "shoofly" track will be constructed around the derailment for a distance of about 250 feet in order to restore service.

It was planned to cut the tenders from the locomotive with acetylene torches, then right them with bulldozers, and pull them from the ripped up trackage with another locomotive.

Delay in cutting the heavy steel was necessary because of the heat of fuel oil which spilled from engine and leading tender, creating a fire hazard until cooled off.

New SPCA Inspector Appointed

Appointment of Clifford Ladd as inspector for the Victoria branch, Society of Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, was announced today by SPCA president William Leach.

Mr. Ladd will succeed Cyril McRoberts, who was given notice Friday, effective Feb. 1.

Mr. Ladd has been with the SPCA in Vancouver for the past year, driving the small animal ambulance.

"We are fortunate to get a trained man," Mr. Leach said.

He said the change in inspectors follows a difference of opinion between Mr. McRoberts and the SPCA executive on the matter of taking over operation of pound duties in Esquimalt by the society.

COULDN'T AGREE

"Mr. McRoberts is a man of principle, and he couldn't agree with the executive, which was unanimously in favor of the agreement with Esquimalt," said Mr. Leach.

He explained that the reeve of Esquimalt approached the Victoria branch about eight months ago.

"Esquimalt has no pound at present," said Mr. Leach. "After extensive negotiations it was agreed last week that the SPCA would assume the pound duties of this municipality only, using the present facilities at the small animal shelter, 111 Wilson."

"The B.C. SPCA now operates pounds at Nanaimo, North Vancouver district, West Vancouver, Surrey and Richmond. Also, in many of the larger cities in eastern Canada and the U.S.A. the pounds are operated by the humane societies."

CONFIDENT

"Based on the experience of other SPCA branches, we are confident the Victoria branch can conduct a humane, efficient pound in Esquimalt."

"We already have plans and estimates for extra kennel accommodation. We also have considered the purchase of an extra ambulance and hiring an additional man. For the present, the committee was of the opinion we should commence this new operation with our present facilities."

Mr. Leach added the committee had given considerable thought to operating pounds for the city of Victoria and possibly other municipalities.

Bronze Plaque For Tallest Totem

Erection of a cast bronze plaque at the site of the World's Tallest Totem Pole in Beacon Hill Park, rather than an inscribed plate of lighter metal, was recommended to city council today by finance committee.

The decision was reached after a report from the city purchasing agent which indicated any lighter plaque would suffer both from the weather and vandalism.

BETWEEN TIMES By MONTE ROBERTS

On Saturday, Jan. 19, 1937, was recorded another remark to add to the deathless list of famous sayings of famous men:

"SNOW WON'T LAST, SAYS WEATHERMAN."

Snow being such a rarity in these parts (it says in the large print in the tourist brochures) I looked it up in the dictionary to find out what it is.

With this result: "SNOW: a small sailing-vessel resembling a brig, carrying a main and foremast and a supplementary trysail mast close behind the mainmast; formerly employed as a warship."

And soon to be unemployed, I hope.

But let us ignore the snow—perhaps it will go away—and consider a letter published by Graham Smith in his Winnipeg Tribune column.

As follows:

"As a fairly recent arrival in Canada from England I have noticed that Canadian women spend a lot of money and time on their appearance, yet neglect something that attracts just as much attention, their voices."

"In all fairness I must admit that I am professionally interested in voice production."

"Nevertheless I am sure that even those with untrained ears will agree with me if they start paying attention to the voices and laughter they hear at the next social gathering they attend. Note particularly the number of women who talk in shrill voices, sounding like so many miniature factory whistles."

"Then there are the whiners, whose voices, mostly produced through the nose, are equally tiresome. Next we have the dull, flat monotone which sounds as musical as the steady chant of a beggar soliciting alms."

"Last but by no means least, listen to the strident sounds uttered by women when they laugh. The majority of them emit shrill cries, or screams. . . . I shall not describe the others beyond saying they jar like the notes of the peacock."

"LONDONER."

"Londoner" appears to have a point there. Or perhaps several points.

But I would like to add to his list of voices I could get along without: Those trained at professional schools of voice production.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

Victoria city and district branch, Canadian Red Cross Society annual meeting will be held at Red Cross House, 1046 Fort Street, at 2:30 p.m., Wednesday, Jan. 23.

Election of officers will take place and reports of branch activities will be read.

Judgment has been reserved in County Court here in the case of William J. Rippon, Victoria, asking damages totalling $808 when a tree was allegedly felled across his car by logger Edward Clapham, Happy Valley Road.

Evidence disclosed Mr. Rippon was remodeling a house at Metchosin last April 10, his car parked on a private road, when a tree came tumbling down and struck the vehicle.

The hearing was before Judge J. B. Clearhues.

Plans for expansion of church facilities will be made at the annual congregational meeting of St. George the Martyr Church next Monday at 8 p.m.

Parishioners will consider building of a parish house with activity rooms, social room, kitchen and classrooms to alleviate limited accommodation in the church hall.

United Nations Association, Victoria branch, will meet in the Blue Room, 1303 Broad Street, Thursday at 8 p.m. Speaker will be Miss Edith Green, RN, who has spent two years in Egypt with the World Health Organization. Her subject will be "The University School of Nursing for the Middle East."

Pacific Northwest Personnel Management Association: Pacific Club, dinner at 6 p.m.

Licensing of Victoria's 60 pinball machines will cease this month if city council endorses a recommendation of city solicitor T. P. O'Grady received by finance committee today.

Mr. O'Grady's letter said in view of recent police court convictions of a pinball operator on a gaming charge, all pinball machines in the city "are suspect."

He said further test cases may be expected but in the meantime he recommended "That the automatic vending machine licensing by-law be amended by deleting from it all reference to pinball machines."

Wednesday meeting of the Victoria Prayer and Healing Study Group at Christ Church Cathedral Memorial Hall has been postponed to Feb. 13.

Speaker of the Legislature, Thomas Irwin, will address Social Credit groups of James Bay at a meeting in the Community Hall, corner of Pilot and Dallas, Thursday at 8 p.m.

Social Credit Group No. 72 will meet in the small club room of the YWCA Tuesday at 8 p.m. Election of officers will be held.

Addition of eight rooms to St. Luke's Church parish hall will be considered by parishioners at an annual meeting Monday, Feb. 4.

Seven classrooms and a kitchen would comprise the addition, expected to be built this year at a cost of $30,000.

Annual vestry meeting of Christ Church Cathedral will be held in the Memorial Hall next Monday at 8 p.m.

All Saints' Anglican Church also will hold its annual meeting next Monday at 8 p.m.

Thrift of a $300 set of tools from the rear of Muir's Garage at Tillicum and Carey was reported to Saanich police Saturday night.

The tools were stolen from a truck parked at the rear of the station.

The theft is believed to have occurred between 5 and 8:30 p.m. while the station was open.

Robber Given More Time To Repay Bank

Bank robber Leonard Wilson was granted another week in city police court today to try and raise all of the $1,340 he took from the Douglas Street Branch of the Royal Bank of Canada, Jan. 7.

Police recovered about $900 when he was arrested in Seattle Jan. 8, and counsel James Proudfoot said today Wilson is selling his car and borrowing money from friends to make up the difference.

It was the second remand for the 29-year-old Duncan construction worker since he pleaded guilty to the robbery Jan. 10.

Prosecutor Alan Bigelow agreed to today's remand, saying he was "all in favor" of restitution being made.

Baptists Buy Camp Site

Thirteen acres of wooded property north of Schwartz Bay have been purchased by the Baptist Island Association for use as a summer camp.

The property was bought last week for $5,500. Rev. G. R. Easter of First Baptist Church said today.

The camp for adults and children will be opened in July. It will be the first permanent summer campsite on the Island for Baptists.

WAS IT YOU?

LETTERS TO DRIVERS

(In this column the Times presents letters from and to drivers about careless, courteous or reckless infractions of driving rules. When you see one just send in the place, date and time, and what happened.)

TODAY'S BEEFS

On Jan. 16, about 9 a.m., I observed a dark grey Volkswagen travelling west on the old Island Highway in the vicinity of the Morrow Crest Auto Court. This Volkswagen was crowding the back of a light green Austin, who at the next cut-off signalled for a right-hand turn. The Volkswagen veered left nearly in the path of an oncoming car. I followed and caught up to the Volkswagen at the Thetis Lake stop light. The driver was a lady, who had a cocker spaniel on her lap.—F.B.

My pet peeve is older drivers. By this statement I mean all people over 60. I am 45 myself and drive quite a bit. Many times I have seen ailing and incompetent drivers (both men and women) weaving in and out of traffic, making right and left hand turns from the wrong lane. Many women drivers have the mistaken feeling that in order to make a right turn you must first pull out to the left. This is most confusing when a right turn signal is made. I have often seen this done and many irate citizens have kept their temper just because the offenders are older people. I think Victoria would be a much safer and pleasanter place to drive if everyone over 60 (arbitrary figure) was forced to take a driver's examination every year.—Mrs. M. D. B.

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—What royalty does the B.C. government get on natural gas of B.C.? Is it collected at the well heads?—C.B.

A.—The B.C. government gets not less than three-quarters of a cent per thousand cubic feet at the well head.

Q.—What price is paid for natural gas exported to the U.S. from B.C.?

A.—The price has not been fixed as yet.

Q.—What is to be the price of natural gas for domestic consumption in Vancouver?

A.—At the residential rate the consumer will pay $1 for the first 300 cubic feet; 21 cents a hundred for the next 700; 16 cents a hundred for the next 2,500; 12 cents a hundred for the next 5,500; and 10 cents a hundred for any amount over 9,000 cubic feet in one month.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times," Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to give consultations.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Sale Days Aren't Confined To Ladies' Shops Only!

By PENNY SAVER

There is a tremendous sale of men's clothing in town! Everything from ties to shoes is selling at prices very much reduced—some down to half price. There are Italian-style T-shirts regularly priced at $3.95, $4.95 and $5.95, now half that price. Many styles, with collars, two or three button necklines, short or long sleeves or collarless in a comfortable, casual style, are available. Stripes of many colors are the rage, and these shirts feature a wide range of shades. Cotton twill Ivy League shirts with corner and back button-down collars are another good buy. These are of a washable, striped material featuring the muted shades that go so well with all slacks. For the man who loves casual clothes, these shirts, regularly $5.95, and now $3.91.

Ties priced to $2 are now 65 and 95 cents each, and socks that were $2 are 95 cents a pair. Even shoes are being sold at special prices. Regular priced at $17.95, these smart shoes are now $9.95. Cuff links and tie bars get into the act, too, and are selling at half price.

Into kitchen wares in another store, I noticed brightly colored cup hooks that will match your cupboards. These hooks are of one-piece construction so that they won't loosen and fall apart. They're covered with a rubbery substance to soften the surface. They come in pink, red, green, yellow and white, and are sold at five for 15 cents.

What's this? Well, I've found just the thing for these cold winter days. They're old fashioned, and oh so practical. Can I interest you in some knee warmers? Yes, that's what I said. They're made of a fine wool jersey knit that fits snugly to the leg. The tops can be held up tightly with the garters that hold your nylons. A pair costs $1.35.

Instead of searching around town for the items mentioned here in the column, call me at 2-3131 and I'll tell you where I saw them.

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

About a wedding gift:

My husband and I have received an invitation to a wedding and reception of the daughter of a man who works in the same department as my husband. We have no social connections at all. I have met the man and his wife only once and never met the daughter. We are unable to attend either wedding or reception. Under the circumstances should we send a gift?

Louise Davis answers:

You should not feel obligated to send a gift under the circumstances, and I wouldn't do it if I were you inasmuch as friendship is not involved. It is too bad to be put on the spot like this.

It would have been better judgment had the bride's parents invited you to the ceremony and not the reception. It would have been better still had they not sent you an invitation at all rather than imply a gift obligation as they did. I suggest that your husband and co-workers take up a collection and send the bride a gift. That confines it to business rather than social. The enclosure card can list all the names or it can just state "The office staff (or name the department) of such and such a company."

Helpful Hints for Women On 8-Week Marathon Plan

Thousands of women already have begun their 8-Week Self-Improvement Marathon and thousands more will be starting soon, to see how much they can improve themselves in eight weeks' time.

I am giving one day each week during this period to help you get the most out of your Marathon instructions. The large majority of women who join Marathon wish to lose weight, many of them as much as 20 pounds during this eight weeks. Others want to decrease only one measurement, or to correct some other defect in beauty.

I already have given you directions on how to plan your reducing diet. I suggest that you keep your calorie intake between 1,200 and 1,400 a day. However, remember that the number of calories a person needs is dependent on many factors such as build and height, age and physical activity.

Many women feel they are undernourished if they are thin and well nourished if they are fat. Just the opposite is often true. The fact—that you are overweight even though you work hard about the house indicates that you are eating more than you need, and most likely the wrong kinds of food.

Many women lull themselves into obesity with the thought that they must "eat to keep their strength up" because they do a lot of work. Modern reducing diets are full of foods which build health and blood. If you have a lot of work to do you may add some more of the energy foods (carbohydrates).

However, do not forget that you are having more calories than you need if you are gaining weight. In order to lose weight you must cut your calorie intake lower than you normally require.

Twelve hundred calories is about right for most women. Hold it to 1,400 at the most. Eat a well-balanced diet and do not skip a meal, especially not breakfast. Good luck!

If any of you late-comers wish to join the Marathon, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the Marathon Booklet to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

New President Receives a Gift For Six Years Perfect Attendance

At the annual meeting held in a private room at the Empress Hotel last Thursday evening, Mrs. Arthur Cann was installed president of the Lions Auxiliary.

The 22 members present attended the smorgasbord dinner in the hotel prior to the meeting.

Mrs. Laura Chaplin acted as chairman for the evening; Mrs. W. Clifford Rae presented a corsage to the new president and to the immediate past president, Mrs. Ernest H. Emery. Mrs. Rae and Mrs. James Roberts acted as installing officers. Mrs. Emery was presented with a gift to mark completion of her term of office; Mrs. Cann also received a gift in recognition of six years' perfect attendance. Others receiving perfect attendance ribbons were Mrs. Charles Savage, three years; Mrs. David Ewing, two years; Mrs. Emery, Mrs. Lola Cullimore, Mrs. Milton Sharp and Mrs. Robert Freeland, one year.

In her annual report Mrs.

TODAY'S RECIPE

ORANGE BAVARIAN

One and one-third cups water, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ cup uncooked white rice, 1½ cups milk, ½ cup beet or cane sugar, ½ teaspoon vanilla, 2 teaspoons lemon juice, 1 package orange-flavored gelatin, ¼ cup beet or cane sugar, 1 cup orange juice, ½ cup whipping cream, chilled; 2 teaspoons beet or cane sugar, ½ teaspoon vanilla. Orange sections for garnish, if desired.

Method: Put the water, salt and rice in a two-quart saucepan. Bring to a vigorous boil over a high heat. Turn the heat down low. Cover with a lid and simmer over this low heat 14 minutes.

Stir in the milk. Cover and continue cooking over this low heat 30 to 40 minutes or until the milk is absorbed. Stir in the ½ cup sugar, the ½ teaspoon vanilla and lemon juice.

While the rice cooks, place the gelatin, ¼ cup sugar and orange juice in a small saucepan. Place over a medium heat and stir to dissolve the gelatin. Stir into the rice mixture. Cool. Cover and chill. When the rice-gelatin mixture is cold, whip the cream. Stir in the 2 teaspoons sugar and ½ teaspoon vanilla. Fold into the rice. Cover and chill until time to serve. Garnish with orange sections.

If desired, arrange the orange sections in the bottom of a ring mould or other mould holding five cups. Top with the rice-whipped cream mixture. Cover and chill until firm. To unmould, dip in hot water. Cover mould with a plate. Invert plate and mould and shake to loosen the dessert. Serve with additional whipped cream, if desired. This recipe makes eight to 10 servings.

Emery told of two successful projects—a coffee party and a fashion show.

Donations were given during the year, as follows: $50 to the "500" club; $50 towards upkeep for one year of a foster child; $25 to the Unitarian Services of Canada; $25 toward the upkeep of the auxiliary's room at Gorge Road Hospital; $15 for a needy family and $15 to the Pastime Centre.

Other officers installed were: Vice-president, Mrs. Harry R. Paulin; recording secretary, Mrs. Ernest B. Hackett; corresponding, Mrs. Nels M. Foster; treasurer, Mrs. Charles R. Savage; directors for two years, Bruce Passmore; directors for one year, Mrs. Lola Cullimore and Mrs. R. H. Freeland.

On Channel 12

Victoria's most baffling week-end television mystery of the year, entitled "Whatever Happened to Channel 12?" was solved today.

... WEATHER

Main streets of Victoria were sprinkled with rock salt as the snow fell Saturday and as a result the surface now is much the same as water, treated with anti-freeze.

He said if the city had still been using sand it would have been impossible to begin work until the snow stopped falling, as later snow covers its non-skid abrasive qualities.

Extra crews are working today cleaning crosswalks, and snow which had been pushed into the centre of the streets will be picked up and carried away as soon as possible.

No streets have been closed by his order for sleigh riding. The engineer said he does not anticipate flooding as the nine inches of snow represents less than one inch of rain.

The use of salt instead of sand, which can clog storm drains, is also a feature which reduces the chance of flooding.

ROADS PASSABLE

Highways department crews in the district went to work Saturday afternoon with all available men and equipment, and have worked constantly on shifts. Except for a delay on the Malahat Saturday evening, traffic was kept moving, and all roads today were reported as "passable."

Sunday saw hundreds of youngsters sleighing on available hills, and some skiers were seen.

In some instances cars towed sleighs, and one young woman was seen skating on the hard-packed surface of Blenkinsop Road.

Brilliant sunshine made the clearing of sidewalks a little easier to bear, and thousands had the opportunity of seeing Port Angeles and the Olympic Mountains "close enough to touch." Others noted the beauty of the snow from gaunt skeletons to studies in Valenciennes lace.

FOG HEAVY

Trouble for motorists, however, struck Sunday night from another direction.

Heavy fog settled over the suburban area late Sunday afternoon, catching many home-bound motorists off guard.

Visibility was reduced to 15 feet in some places, and many drivers were completely baffled at intersections.

One car proceeding south on the Trans-Canada Highway ran into a snowbank instead of the turn on to Douglas, and others were left at odd angles in snowbanks at the Fountain Circle.

opened to Channel 12?" was solved today.

Saturday night at 10.30 the popular Bellingham television station boosted its power from 34,000 watts to a whopping 225,000 watts.

Long one of the city's best received stations, citizens feared that the added power would harm reception from Tacoma's Channel 11.

First reports indicated that it didn't, at least to any marked degree.

But something else happened they hadn't bargained for.

Sunday they were dumbfounded to discover that they couldn't pickup 12 more than faintly. It was as though the giant had worn itself out in one frenzied show of strength, then faded to a ghost.

Some local technicians today were inundated with angry cries for help as citizens thought they had lost the channel for all time.

David Mintz, general manager of KVOS-TV, however, said that Channel 12's fading was of a temporary nature and explained it this way:

In an all-out effort to meet the Saturday night high-power deadline ceremony, engineers and technicians battled icy winds and swirling snows atop Orcas Island's half-mile Mt. Constitution all last week. But the weather was so bad it was possible to rig only a temporary antenna.

Therefore, once the power-booster show was over, the station transmitted from a temporary small antenna to allow workmen to convert the jury-rigged affair into a permanent installation.

CLEAR SOON

Mr. Mintz thought Victorians would be able to receive the channel "in its old black-and-white brilliance by Tuesday noon—at the earliest, and by Wednesday or Thursday at the latest."

High winds were still a threat this morning atop Mt. Constitution, he said.

Peculiarly, however, weekend weather wrought other changes in TV viewing.

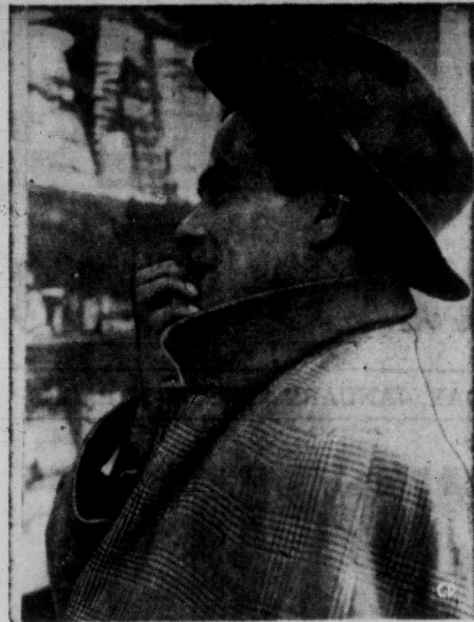

Channel 13, for instance, received well by no more than about 5 per cent of the city's TV set owners, was reported coming in clearly in most sections of Greater Victoria.

One technician put forth the interesting theory that heavy new snows atop the mountain peaks between here and 13's Tacoma-Seattle transmitter site, were responsible. While others thought 13 owed its good reception to the fact that Channel 12 had been reduced temporarily to low power.

CHRISTIAN GEORGE HANNA

5 Women Propose
To Stateless Man

VANCOUVER (CP)—Several girls have offered to marry a stateless and lonely stowaway if that will save him from being deported, his counsel said Sunday night.

John Taylor, one of two lawyers fighting a deportation order issued last Friday against Christian Hanna, 23, said the girls "seem to be running a competition."

At least five have offered to become engaged to Hanna, he added, though they have never seen him except in newspaper pictures. One planned to make application today for his admittance as her fiancé.

Hanna, who has no passport or citizenship papers, spent the weekend in custody in the immigration building here awaiting hearing of his appeal by a three-man board today.

He left from the Norwegian freighter Gudveig at Port Alberni, B.C., Thursday after being aboard 15 months. At least six countries denied him permission to land after he stowed away at Beirut, Lebanon.

He was led off the freighter by Donald White, 26-year-old Vancouver lawyer who had obtained a court order on his behalf. Mr. White later applied unsuccessfully for a writ of habeas corpus, and a one-man board of inquiry ruled that Hanna would have to return to

Esquimalt to Get Full Explanation
Of Coat-of-Arms

Historical significance of Esquimalt's colorful coat-of-arms will be explained by its designer, Alan Beddoe, Ottawa, at an unveiling ceremony in Esquimalt High School Wednesday.

The public ceremony will begin at 7.30 p.m., with a half-hour concert by HMCS Naden Band.

Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross will unveil the coat-of-arms, which will be dedicated by Rev. J. A. Roberts, rector of St. Paul's Church.

Salesman Added
To Most-Wanted
List By RCMP

OTTAWA (CP)—Real estate salesman Leonard Ewing Scott, 60, of Los Angeles, Calif., known also by at least seven aliases, today was listed on the RCMP's list of most-wanted men. Scott, wanted in Los Angeles on charges of murder, theft and forgery, jumped $25,000 bail there last May.

He is described as a naturalized American citizen, six feet tall, 197 pounds, with white hair and "piercing black eyes."

TOTAL OF SIX

Scott now is among six men listed by the RCMP. The others: William Adams, of St. Catharines, Ont., murder.

Daniel William O'Connor, of Keremeos, B.C., attempted murder.

Edwin (Eddy) MacDonald, of Toronto, narcotics.

Anthony Hart Gregson, of Yellowknife, N.W.T., theft.

Philip Legros, of Toronto, fraud.

Judgment Reserved In Suit Over Mill-End Contract

Judgment was reserved by Mr. Justice Wilson in Supreme Court Friday in the case of Mahinder Singh asking damages from Acme Sawmills Ltd. for breach of contract.

Mahinder Singh had contracted with the company to take mill-end for two years, which was sold as stove wood in Victoria, last August, before the contract expiry date. Acme refused to sell Mahinder Singh any more wood.

Defendants were Sardara Singh and Magur Singh. Appearing for the plaintiff was George Gregory and for the defence, W. B. Monteith.

REMEMBER:—

In laundry and dry-cleaning, as in everything else in life, you receive in value exactly what you pay for.

For three generations the name NEW METHOD has signified to the people of Victoria all that is most reliable in laundry and dry-cleaning service.

Locally owned and managed during all these years NEW METHOD offers its customers these outstanding advantages:

1. 60 years of accumulated skill and know-how in the cleaning of all kinds of fabrics.
2. The largest trained staff of its kind on Vancouver Island working happily under trade union conditions of employment.
3. One of the most modern plants anywhere in Canada.
4. Exclusive use in Victoria of the coveted SANITONE franchise, a dry-cleaning system licensed only to the top quality cleaners in each city on the continent.
5. A policy of integrity towards customers that guarantees their absolute satisfaction.

For these reasons over 5,000 Victoria families trust their precious clothes and household fabrics each week ONLY TO NEW METHOD.

They have discovered for themselves the peace-of-mind that comes from dealing only with a reliable cleaner.

May we bring this fine service to you, too?

NEW METHOD

A Cleaning Service You Can Trust Completely

NOW... your choice

Javex 5-IN-1 Action!

Yes! Liquid or dry—whichever you buy—there's nothing else like Javex!

What other single cleaning product does so many jobs
...and yet costs so little?

There's nothing else like Javex. A wonder-worker in your laundry, Javex also keeps porcelains jewel-bright without scratching... whitens and deodorizes toilet bowls... disinfects drains and does a dozen other labor-saving chores easily, quickly, thoroughly.

"I save money on my cleaning products..." says Mrs. North

"... by using Javex for kitchen and bathroom cleaning as well as in the laundry. I save work, too! For just an easy wipe-over with Javex makes porcelain surfaces shining-clean; and a little Javex in the toilet bowl works wonders."

Most women know at least 20 ways Javex saves work and cuts the cost of cleaning products.

Buy your Javex in threes!

By buying 3 Javex at a time and keeping one always handy in the kitchen, laundry and bathroom, you'll save countless steps every day. And in either form, Javex is equally efficient; whichever you use is purely a matter of your own preference.
